

McCarthy's Death Ends Fiery Political Career

Wife at Bedside; Passing Reduces GOP Seats to 46

Washington, May 3 (AP)—Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin died yesterday, closing out a career as one of the most controversial political figures of this century.

McCarthy, who was 47, died of an acute liver inflammation five days after he entered the naval hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md.

Admired, Denounced
The Wisconsin senator was admired by some as an anti-Communist patriot, but denounced by others as a witch-hunter.

His death reduces to 46 the number of GOP senators. There are 49 Democrats in the Senate. His successor probably will be chosen in a special election this fall.

The naval hospital said in a statement that McCarthy had "progressively failed" since being admitted last Sunday, and that he had been sick at home for several weeks before that.

Just before the end, McCarthy received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church. His wife was with him when he died. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Had Wide Influence

For a time in the early 1950s, McCarthy was a dominant figure whose searches for Communists in government and elsewhere aroused bitter controversy. His influence was felt far and wide. Three years ago, he reached his peak in a battle with the army which he charged was trying to hinder his hunt for subversives. The army accused McCarthy of browbeating some of its officers called before his Senate Investigations Subcommittee. Millions of Americans sat in on the ensuing Senate investigation of the army-McCarthy row, through the medium of television and radio. Millions became familiar with his "Mr. Chairman, Mr. Chairman . . . Point of order . . . Point of order," delivered in a nasal monotone. McCarthy was chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee at the time, but stepped aside for the special hearing.

Start of Eclipse

Growing out of that investigation was a Senate probe of his conduct and a censure vote against him. That was the beginning of his eclipse.

By the time of his death, he had become just another senator. In his heyday, McCarthy tangled with other senators and with two Presidents: Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman.

But yesterday these old feuds went unmentioned as erstwhile foes and friends alike voiced regret at McCarthy's passing and praised him as a "fighting patriot, courageous fighter, . . . man of strong convictions, . . . fine fellow."

Eisenhower, who had omitted McCarthy from the White House social list in recent years, exclaimed: "He was a great man." (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

May Close State Forests Unless Soaking Rains Fall

Syracuse, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today signed an order closing New York state's tinder-dry woodlands for an indefinite period. The order is effective at 12:30 p. m., EDT. The governor's action followed a recommendation by Conservation Commissioner Sharon J. Mauhs that the woods be closed because of fire hazards.

Albany, May 3 (AP)—New York's tinder-dry forests may be closed to the public in the next 24 hours, unless soaking rains fall.

A Conservation Department spokesman said today a decision probably would be made this afternoon. Gov. Harriman would take the final action, on recommendation from Commissioner Sharon J. Mauhs.

120,000 Would Feel WRGB Station Shift

Washington, May 3 (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) says a proposed reassignment of television channels in New York state would deprive 120,000 viewers of all service so that others might have three channels instead of two.

Aiken told the Senate yesterday that this would be the effect of a move to switch VHF Channel 6 from Schenectady to Syracuse and replace it with a UHF channel at Schenectady.

The Vermonters said more than 500,000 persons comprised the audience of Channel 6 Station WRGB, operated by the General Electric Co. for the last 17 years. They are in New York, Massachusetts and Vermont, he said.

The shift is part of a commission "deintermixture" plan. Under it, some areas would have only VHF service (Channels 2 to 13) and some would have only UHF service (Channels 14 to 81). The Albany-Troy-Schenectady area, which now has two UHF stations, would be completely UHF.

Aiken said about 120,000 viewers in 48,000 homes of the area now could receive only the VHF signal from WRGB. He said another 100,000 would have to buy conversion equipment costing up to $150 if they were to receive any service.

Aiken said he had received an "extraordinary" explanation from Chairman George C. McConaughy on asking why the Commission majority favored the switch.

"He said Station WRGB is the only operating VHF station in the area," Aiken said. "He then explained that there are several UHF stations operating in the area now and numerous UHF channels assigned to this area."

"He then added these significant words: 'As a result of action we have taken in this proceeding, other UHF stations will be activated in the area.'"

"I do not pretend to be an expert on such a highly technical matter," the senator added, "but common sense tells me that the commission can keep adding UHF channels indefinitely and this action will not in any way relieve the blackout that will be caused by the removal of Channel 6 from the area."

Booklet Stirs Trustees 4 Think Rural School Misrepresented

Four trustees of Lake Katrine School District No. 4 have scored certain information in a brochure published by the Greater Kingston Consolidation Committee as "an indictment of school boards in certain areas," but one of them will support consolidation and three have "an open mind." The Freeman learned today.

The furor apparently was begun at a meeting of the consolidation committee at the Court House this week when the trustees submitted a resolution that "we return the brochures."

Talks for Lake Katrine

Roy Feddes, chairman of the committee, said it was the opinion of Wednesday night's meeting "that the trustees acted without the best interest of the Lake Katrine School District in mind."

Joseph J. Benjamin, president of the board of trustees of the school district, told The Freeman today his group felt that a review of the brochure indicated "certain information relative to elementary schools in the rural areas is incorrect."

Signed by Four

The resolution was signed by Trustees William Burke, Lester V. Felton, Mrs. Mary Lamar and Mr. Benjamin.

It was not signed by Trustee Norman Hammond, who is also a member of the consolidation committee. Mr. Hammond was not present at the meeting when the vote took place, Mr. Benjamin said.

Mr. Benjamin said certain information in the brochure indicated that education in rural schools "didn't compare with that in the city schools."

Called Reflection

"This, we feel, is a reflection on our own school, which, we believe, is doing a good job," Mr. Benjamin said.

He said he believed that consolidation is necessary, "but the facts have been misrepresented in this brochure and our favoring it would be an indictment of school boards in rural areas."

Mr. Benjamin said he and three other trustees challenged the brochure on the same grounds. His three fellow members have not made up their minds on consolidation, Mr. Benjamin said, "but are receptive to what is best for all rural areas."

The Resolution

Mr. Feddes quoted the trustees' resolution as follows:

"Resolved that we return the consolidation brochures to the source from which they came and also notify the finance chairman of the Greater Kingston City Consolidation that we are not taking any action since we disagree with the descriptive information contained within the folder as it applies to our particular school district; that since we are not distributing these, we do not feel we should bear any of the cost."

"It was the consensus of those present at the Court House, that the trustees acted without the best interest of the Lake Katrine School District in mind; that their duty was to advise their residents of the problems concerning schools and what was being done in the area to solve these problems," Mr. Feddes said.

Brochure Available

He said a copy of the consolidation brochure is available from the committee on request.

Mr. Feddes said the Chambers School District "has organized a group of interested persons for the distribution of the brochure and the signing of petitions."

He urged interested persons to contact Edward F. Dingley, Jr., trustees of the various school districts have received the brochures and residents in those districts may secure a copy from one of them, Mr. Feddes said.

Petitions must be submitted by the consolidation committee by June 1, he said, "and these petitions will be submitted to the State Education Department for outlining the consolidation."

Prisoner Seeking Release Pleads Own Case in Court

Charles B. Langford, 32, a native of North Carolina, appeared in County Court Thursday afternoon seeking release from prison.

He alleged his constitutional rights had been violated in 1947 when he was sentenced to 2½ to 5 years in Clinton Prison for escape from Walkkill prison. He charged that under a recent decision the court erred in not asking him immediately prior to sentence if he had legal cause to show why sentence should not be pronounced.

Langford told Judge Paul Fromer, Greene county judge who presided since Ulster County Judge Louis G. Bruhn was disqualified that he did not desire appointment of counsel and would plead his own case.

Langford did such a good job pleading his own case that Judge Fromer told him he should have directed his career to better things and with his "keen mind" would have made a good lawyer. Langford said he had studied law books while in prison and cited cases, sections of the law and argued his legal points like a veteran attorney.

A bad company at the age of 18 Langford said first got him in difficulty. In 1944 he was convicted of robbery, third degree, in Schenectady and given 7½ to 15 years, a sentence which he said was excessive for a first offender. Even then he said he was not a "criminal" for while in prison he offered to sell bonds he owned and make restitution to the aggrieved party. That person refused restitution on the grounds Langford had paid his debt to society by going to prison and to

Record $4,650 Paid by Parkers

A record parking-meter take of $4,650 in April was reported by the city treasurer's office today.

The total was $600 more than the March total, and is the highest reported in the 10 years of operation of the meters in the city. The total was nearly $1,000 above the February take and was nearly $1,000 above that in January.

Some of the increase, it was indicated, was due to the fact that more than 100 new meters have been installed in various areas of the city during the past year.

A proposed increase in meter rates, especially in the busier sections of the city, was left with a Common Council committee for study. The proposed new rate would be 10 cents, instead of five cents for an hour of parking, but modifications of this rate have been suggested.

Saugerties High Student Awarded 2 State Grants

ZANE LAUVA

A Saugerties High School student has been awarded two state tuition scholarships as a result of a competitive examination held last January.

She is Zane Lauva of 34 Jane street, Saugerties. One entitles her to a $200 reduction from the regular tuition fee at one of the tuition-paying colleges of Cornell University for a period of four years. The other is a $500 a year scholarship for education in engineering, chemistry, physics and mathematics while attending an approved college in the state of New York for a period of not to exceed five years of approved undergraduate study.

One in Ellenville

Paul M. Strudler of Ellenville High School, residing at 7 Roslyn street, Ellenville, is also awarded the $500 a year scholarship in engineering, chemistry, physics and mathematics.

The Cornell scholarship is awarded to pupils of each county according to the number of Assembly districts in the county. Thus Ulster county gets but one scholarship. The engineering scholarships are awarded to 250 successful candidates residing in the counties of New York city and 250 to the successful candidates residing in the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

End Germany Division, Dulles Plea to Russia

Yates Tells Kiwanis He'd Wait on School

The question of consolidation should be settled before the taxpayers of Kingston assume a bonded indebtedness for construction of a new junior high school, William A. Yates, chairman of the educational committee of the Kingston Civic Association, told the Kiwanis Club at its regular luncheon meeting Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

"In our opinion," he said, "the need for additional junior high school facilities should be further justified. . . . For example, how much would it cost the taxpayer of Kingston and the adjoining area under consolidation? It may be more or less. It is a fact that the tax base would increase. Also, the present indebtedness of all school districts, including any new buildings, would be assumed by the entire district."

Mr. Yates, who is project manager of IBM, said the association was "quite certain of" its position on that particular point, "but there may be some problems in a greater Kingston area consolidated school district that we don't know about. Shouldn't we be aware of all the facts before we can intelligently vote 'yes' or 'no' on a controversial issue such as we have before us?"

He said that morally Kingston was obligated to give its children the "best reasonable education we can afford."

But to "what extent are we responsible for our neighbor's children? In the seventh and eighth grades we now have 910 children in our schools; 302 or 33 per cent are non-resident children. In the four high school grades we have 2,036 students and of these 915 or 45 per cent are non-resident. "If we did not have these non-resident children our schools would be adequate for all foreseeable future demands," he said.

He asked the audience to picture in their mind students from Port Ewen. "They could go up Wurts street, down Delaware avenue and, bingo, they are at school! No trouble at all. The East Kingston children would come in the bypass and down Delaware avenue—again no trouble. Same thing applies to Lake Katrine, etc. Why jam them through the uptown business district?"

Mr. Yates pointed out further that Hasbrouck Park had no sewage disposal problem and had all the land needed.

Questions Cost

He also questioned the cost of the proposed junior high school (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Indict Beck on Taxes

Posts Bond, to Be Arraigned May 13

Washington, May 3 (AP)—Dave Beck, Teamsters Union boss indicted for income tax evasion, today posted $5,000 bond pending arraignment May 13.

Beck went voluntarily to the U. S. Marshal's office for a technical surrender under a warrant telegraphed from Tacoma, Wash., where a federal grand jury returned the indictment yesterday accusing him of failing to pay $36,420 in taxes due on 1950 income.

Beck Is Silent
He was taken to a basement cell block in the U. S. courthouse and fingerprinted in the usual manner. The officers then took him before U. S. District Judge Edward M. Curran for a decision as to bond.

Curran set the amount in a bench conference with Gerard Treanor, an attorney for the Teamsters Union.

Beck stood by—in tan suit and dark glasses—without a word. Once Curran decided on the amount of bond, Beck had a wait of about 45 minutes until someone brought in a cashier's check to complete the bond posting.

Curran ordered Beck to appear before a U. S. Commissioner on May 13 either here in Washington or at Tacoma.

May Waive Removal
Treanor told newsmen that if Beck appears before the commissioner here on May 13 he will waive a removal hearing and show up for arraignment at Tacoma at a later date.

Beck, while waiting to make bond, was asked if he had any comment on his indictment. "I wouldn't say one word about it because I don't know no more about it than you do now," Beck said. "I'd have to consult my attorneys."

In Curran's courtroom, Beck had to wait about a half hour while a dozen other cases were pleaded routinely. He shook his head impatiently several times at the delay.

But while he was waiting later to make bond, Beck waited quietly to himself and appeared in a good humor.

Hires New Attorney

Beck told a reporter he has hired a new attorney to appear

Bridge Plaza May Be Scene Of Dedication

There may be a change in the locale for the May 11 dedication program for the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, it was indicated today.

In an announcement that Henry Noble MacCracken, president emeritus of Vassar College, will be master of ceremonies, the dedication executive committee said there was a possibility the program may be held outdoors.

Original plans were to hold it at the Kate Walton Field House here.

Today's announcement was that consideration is being given to holding the ceremony at the bridge plaza near the toll booths on the west end of the span.

The possible change was discussed at a meeting of the dedication executive committee and Ernest Heppner, local member of the Bridge Authority, on Thursday night.

Decision on the shift will be made at a meeting of the full committee on Monday night in Rhinebeck.

Expansion Minus Plans Harmful, Ulster GOP Told

Expansion of the town of Ulster without direction would result in chaos and a depressive economic status, a planning consultant told members of the Town of Ulster Republican Club at a meeting held Thursday evening at Ulster Hose Company No. 5.

Robert Mickle, an associate of Frederick P. Clark firm of Planning Consultants of Rye, warned against hasty development of the township without planning.

Contract for Survey

The Clark firm is now under contract to survey the rapidly growing sections of the township and submit a master plan for its future development.

Mr. Mickle noted that rapid expansion without planning would result in chaos and an economic depression since taxes would increase and the values of real estate in certain existing areas would decrease.

He discussed possible interchanges at Route 32, 28 and 9W which would provide "good areas for subsidiary industry development and commercial and shopping centers."

Must Guard Stability

Mr. Mickle warned, however, that an eye to planning must be done with the economic stability of the township and its residents in mind.

He noted the population of the town in 1950 was 4,401 and the planner's computation (not census figures) in 1957 is 7,056. He predicted a projected population of 10,000 by 1960. The present town area "far in the future" will accommodate 65,000 persons, he said.

Greater Needs

Growth must be commensurate with economic stability, he said, since density of population would demand an increase in the facilities of police protection, water, sewerage, lighting, education, town buildings, and highway construction.

He said the town's inventory of public domain at present is (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Hits Red Peace Acts As Hollow NATO Aid Urged On Reunification

Bonn, Germany, May 3 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called on Russia today to end the division of Germany "before its injustices become intolerable."

Dulles told the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers the Soviet Union's protestations of peace "indeed ring hollow when they forcibly divide a great people."

Boost for Adenauer

He said that both on humanitarian and legal grounds the continued split of the country could not be justified.

The American statesman spoke after West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano called upon the 15-nation alliance to support his government's demands for reunification quickly.

Brentano's statement was, in part, an effort to bolster Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's political stock for general elections coming up in September.

Von Brentano told the ministers the leaders of the federal German republic are doing all they can to insure that the Red-ruled people of East Germany take no "imprudent actions" which could only aggravate their misery and lead to terrorism.

No Peace in Division

"But there are situations in which the suffering, caused by oppression, and where the moral and material misery reach limits where reason no longer dictate action and where desperation and a just anger break out with the violence of a volcanic eruption."

Brentano told the conference—in its second day—that "a durable peace in Europe" will require achievement while Germany remains divided.

"A system of European security, established without a prior solution of this problem (German reunification) would be based on a volcano."

The Russians have long insisted that an east-west system of non-aggression guarantees should be negotiated in advance of a German settlement.

Warns of Consequences

In his statement, Dulles declared the 1945 allied armistice terms never contemplated division of Germany indefinitely.

He added that if the Soviet Union does not accept German unification "it will have committed a crime of incalculable consequences."

The council was reported to have endorsed plans for another appraisal of the German problem—presumably with the aim of exploring ways of speeding the quest for a settlement. The United States, Britain, France and West Germany decided to assign senior diplomats to the task in Bonn around mid-May.

Has Two Directives

The group will have at least two firm directives from the four governments:

1. Starting-point of any German settlement must be free German-wide elections for an all-German government which would (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Big Manhunt Is On in Costello Attack To Prevent Outbreak of Gangland War

New York, May 3 (AP)—A huge manhunt was on today for an unknown thug who shot and slightly wounded gambler Frank Costello last night.

Sixty detectives and six superior officers were assigned to the case in an attempt to avert a possible outbreak of underworld warfare. Some of them said their objective was to apprehend the gunman before "friends" of Costello caught up with him.

Costello, sometimes called the "boss of the racketeers," was grazed in the scalp by a single bullet fired as he entered the lobby of his apartment house residence on Central Park west.

Apparently feeling that a second attempt might be made on Costello's life, police posted two detectives in the lobby of the building.

Costello was reported sleeping at home after a night of undergoing hospital treatment and police questioning.

Chief of Detectives James B. Leggett, asked if he had any theories, said:

"I've got a feeling that the gunman thought he had hit Costello and thought he had hit him where he wanted to."

The shooting came in the midst of a legislative inquiry into a controversial parole violation case involving Joseph (Socks) Lanza, former Fulton Fish Market racketeer.

To question whether there might be any connection between the case and the shooting of Costello, Leggett told newsmen: "I'm not going to tell you all the things we questioned him about."

Costello was shot while returning from a restaurant where he had dined with friends.

Police questioned all who had been with him and others who had seen him, such as a taxicab driver and the apartment doorman, in an effort to get some clue to the gunman.

The gunman ran into the lobby, fired the shot, and ran out again.

Both Costello and the doorman, Pete Keith, said it happened so fast that they could not identify the thug. The shot hit Costello near the left ear.

Leggett gave this report after talking with Costello:

"He (Costello) went down the two steps in the lobby and at the steps he heard a noise that sounded like a firecracker. He said he felt wetness above the ear. He put his hand up and saw it was blood."

"He said that he had heard no footsteps behind him. He turned and no one was there. But he did see the front glass door closing."

Leggett said the doorman, outside the door, saw the gunman run in and heard the shot and "just stood there stunned." In racing out, the gunman told the doorman, "get out of the way."

Leggett quoted Keith as saying he didn't know in what direction the thug went and had "no idea" what he looked like. What appeared to be a flattened .32 caliber bullet was found in the lobby.

Costello at first said "somebody tried to get me," but later declared:

"I don't know why I was shot. I must have been mistaken for somebody else. I'm glad it wasn't any worse."

Gets Credit Time
At the conclusion of lengthy argument of the case by Langford, Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torracca and District Judge Fromer reimposed the same sentence Judge Cashin had given in 1947, 2 1/2 to 5 years but directed Langford be given credit for the time which has been served under, what Langford held, was an illegal sentence. This means that sentence has been served. Langford also contends the original sentence in 1944 at Schenectady was illegal and has brought a habeas corpus proceeding to review that sentence.
Judge Fromer made the writ returnable in Ulster county next week Wednesday when the Schenectady district attorney's office and the attorney general's office will oppose the legal ability of Langford. Langford was remanded to the Ulster county jail.

Asks More Time
Norman Swinton, who was a companion of Langford in the Wallkill escape, had his case put over to that time to give him time to either secure counsel or be represented by Charles Saccoman who had formerly been assigned by the court. Swinton contests the sentence imposed for escape on the grounds his constitutional rights were violated.
Harold Dore appeared in court and entered a plea of guilty to violation of Section 483 of the Penal Law, a misdemeanor and was given a six months suspended jail sentence.

Back U. S. Efforts
Following their meeting yesterday, the Atlantic allies let it be known they are backing the United States in its efforts to block any further Soviet penetration of the Middle East.

Informants said Secretary of State Dulles emphasized at a secret NATO foreign ministers' session the U. S. determination to prevent further spread of Soviet influence in the troubled area. Dulles claimed the show of force by the U. S. 6th Fleet in the eastern Mediterranean saved restive Jordan from falling into Moscow's grip, but warned that more perils still may face the little Arab kingdom.

Although NATO briefing officers were instructed not to say anything about the Middle East discussion, allied sources some hours later were telling of the general resolve of the member countries to support the U. S. efforts.

join in negotiations for a final peace treaty.
2. Arrangements for any system of East-West security in Europe must follow—not precede—German reunification.
The opposition Socialists are pressing Adenauer's Christian Democratic forces hard, contending that West German membership in NATO and Adenauer's plans to acquire nuclear arms are the chief obstacle to Soviet agreement to the reunification of West and East Germany. Adenauer very much wants a new western proposal with which to counter the Socialist argument.
Whatever is decided at today's third session of the North Atlantic Council is likely to remain secret, for a time at least. Informants said the talks would be more "fruitful outside the public forum."

"MISS RHEINGOLD 1957"
(Maggie McNally) will make a personal appearance at the 18th annual banquet of the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association, which will be held Monday, May 13 at Tropical Inn, Port Ewen. Several acts of New York entertainment also will be featured.

Yates Tells . . .

in the Dietz Stadium area, pointing out that the Kingston Board of Education had estimated the cost at $21 per square foot "but it is also true that others have been built at a lesser figure." He cited the new Monroe-Woodbury Central High School completed last year at a cost of $15.70 per square foot.

"Kingston does not need schools. Number 8 has two empty rooms. Number 4 has two empty rooms. West Hurley and Woodstock will take about 100 children out of our schools as a result of having joined the Ontario School District. The greater Kingston area does need schools. We cannot escape our moral obligation to help our neighbors, but our neighbors also have an obligation to help themselves."

Publicity Appreciated
In conclusion, Mr. Yates said "we have not leaned towards antagonism over this issue but, rather, through honest and sincere efforts as civic-minded citizens, have sought to bring out all possible facts for everyone to consider. We believe the publicity thus created has been worthwhile. We appreciate the space that has been devoted to the articles appearing in The Freeman and are glad to note that the board of education has replied to some of our questions in last night's Freeman."

He considered some of the replies to be too general or conditional. By that we mean that positive answers were not always given. Perhaps the best way to get this point across would be to read the questions and answers and then offer our comments.
Mr. Yates was introduced by W. L. "Dick" Rider, a member of the education committee of the Kingston Civic Association.
Frank Schilling, chairman of the program committee of the Kiwanis Club, introduced Mr. Rider.

Other Views
A number of questions were asked from the floor.

One Kiwanian pointed out that the board of education was asking for the new junior high school to take care of its residential pupils, that the school was needed even without consolidation.

Another pointed out that under state requirements a junior high school should consist of 7th, 8th, 9th grades and not just 7th and 8th as now in effect. Taking the 9th grade out of the high school and putting it into the junior high school would increase the junior high school enrollment immensely, he explained.

Methodist Report Shows $850,000 For Improvement

Newburgh, N. Y., May 1—More than $850,000 has been spent by New York Methodist Conference churches in the last year on new buildings and improvements, the Rev. Dr. D. George Davies, Kingston district superintendent, told more than 400 ministers and laymen today at the Conference's annual session at the First Methodist Church.

Presenting a composite report for the four superintendents of the Conference, Dr. Davies cited the following churches which have undertaken major construction projects: Saugerties, $27,000; St. James in Kingston, $55,000; Gardnertown, $70,000; Ossining Heights, $70,000; Highland Avenue in Ossining, $85,000; Crestwood, $150,000; Fishkill, $80,000; Wappingers Falls, $50,000; Lake Mahopac, $40,000; and Poughkeepsie, where a new district parsonage was purchased for $33,000.

Cites Spiritual Growth

As evidence of spiritual growth in the Conference, Dr. Davies mentioned growing membership in the youth fellowships of local churches particularly in the junior age, and large attendance at youth rallies. He also cited an increase in daily Bible schools and attendance for release-time religious instruction.

Use of the sector plan, a united fund raising project undertaken by groups of churches, has resulted in budget increases as high as 80 per cent, Dr. Davies revealed. He described such a project undertaken in the Poughkeepsie District and urged attendance at a leadership school to be held in June in Lakeville, Conn., in preparation for the launching of the sector plan in other parts of the Conference.

Dr. Davies told the delegates that an overall increase of ten per cent in ministers' salaries has been reported by the churches for 1957.

He paid tribute to the Rev. Fred M. Deming of East Kingston, who is retiring after 62 years' continuous service in the ministry. Four other members of the conference are also retiring this year: the Revs. Herriman J. R. Diekmann of Philmont; Albert H. Mather of Green Haven Prison chaplain; Andrew E. Case of Nanapanoch, and Samuel A. MacCormack of Ashland.

Need 112 Ministers

Bishop Frederick Buckley Newell, making his annual "Bishop's Hour" address, called for recruitment of 112 ministers in the New York Conference by 1960.

"Have you found your replacement in the ministry?" he asked. "Have you examined the record of your church to see how long it has been since it sent one of its young people into the ministry?"

Bishop Newell called for an increase of New York Area membership from 360,000 to 400,000 by 1960 and announced that a United Evangelical Mission will be held in 1958-59.

Case Is Leaving Area to Manage Pittsfield Movies

Robert W. Case, of Woodstock, a theatre manager in this area for the past 14 years, has accepted a position as manager of a new drive-in theatre at Pittsfield, Mass., he announced today.

Mr. Case said he will manage a 1,000-car drive-in at Dalton avenue and Merrill road, that city, which is expected to open for business Thursday, May 9.

Started in 1942

A native of Syracuse, Mr. Case has been associated with theatres here since 1942 when he joined the Walter Reade Theatres as city manager, a position he held for three years. He then served as New York state division manager for the Reade chain for five years.

He has managed the Sunset Drive-In Theatre, Route 28, since 1951. The Pittsfield drive-in, he said, is owned by Sylvan Leff of Albany.

To Keep Home

Mr. Case said he planned to maintain his Woodstock residence and would live there during the winter months.

He described the new Pittsfield theatre as one of the most modern in the east with a 25-ton, all-steel, Cinemascope screen, and a snack bar containing two, 25-foot counters which will operate on a cafeteria basis. The parking area will hold 1,000 cars, he said.

Active in Civic Life

Associated with the theatre business for 38 years, Mr. Case during his management of local theatres, was active in the civic life of the community.

He served as Ulster county theatre chairman of war bond drives during World War 2, and in the same capacity for the March of Dimes. For six years he was president of the Central Businessmen's Association.

Mr. Case is a member of Little Falls, N. Y., Post 31, American Legion, Kingston Rotary Club and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Thefts Reported From Parked Cars

Police were notified yesterday of the theft of articles valued at $74 from a car parked in the Main street lot, and of the theft of tools valued at $50 from a truck in the central Broadway area.

Frederick N. Dubetsky, of 28 Paula Drive, Bergenfield, N. J., notified police at 2:27 p. m., that a raincoat, wallet, flashlight batteries, sun glasses, cigarettes and a flask of whiskey were taken from his Renault sedan while it was parked in the Main street lot.

Another report yesterday said a tool box and tools had been taken from a truck while it was parked during the night at the side of Arace Appliances, 562 Broadway.

McCarthy's Death

pressed his "profound sympathy" for the senator's widow, Truman, who once referred to McCarthy as a pathological case, said in New York he was "very sorry" to learn of the senator's death.

Was Ill at Home

Vice President Nixon, calling McCarthy "one of the most controversial figures of his generation," said "...his friends and many of his critics will not question his devotion to what he considered to be the best interests of his country..."

Acute hepatitis—the illness that killed McCarthy—was the last of a series of ailments that dogged him during the past few years. He had been hospitalized from time to time for sinus, buritis, a nagging old knee injury and a rupture in his midsection. A naval hospital statement last night said McCarthy had been ill at home for several weeks before he was admitted last Sunday.

Sank Rapidly

He was considered seriously ill at the time of his admission and his condition progressively failed," the statement said.

McCarthy, sinking rapidly, was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church an hour before his death at 6:02 p. m., EDT, the hospital said.

Mrs. McCarthy was at his bedside when he died. The senator also leaves an infant daughter the McCarthy adopted early this year.

McCarthy's widow returned to the family home near the Capitol about two hours after his death. She was dry-eyed as she hurried into the house through a rear door. A friend said she was "doing fine under the circumstances."

Kingston Legion Post Fellowship Dinner Is May 11

A past commander and "Post Get Together Fellowship" supper will be held at the Post rooms of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, Saturday evening, May 11 at 6:45 o'clock. The purpose of the supper is to promote the spirit of fellowship between past commanders and all Post members.

The supper will be served by the ladies of Kingston Post Auxiliary, Mrs. Edward Snyder, president. Reservations will close Wednesday, May 8, and all Legion members are invited but reservations must be made since the number who can be served is limited.

Commander William F. Hanley would like to report at the meeting a 100 per cent paid up membership for 1957 and Legionnaires who have not paid dues to date are asked to secure their 1957 membership cards before that date.

The Post records throughout the years tell of the quality of the service rendered by all Past Commanders, and the dinner next Saturday has been scheduled to honor them and to permit them to meet and present their ideas gained through past services to present members.

The affair will be stag, there will be no long speeches, no formal program but good fellowship and opportunity to renew old friendships.

Republican, to name a successor to fill out the remaining 20 months of McCarthy's term. However, he does have the power to order a special election. Thomson has not said what he will do.

Attorney Arrested

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—A New York attorney was arrested here today on an indictment charging him with grand larceny of $3,500 as counsel for an estate. Sheriff C. Fred Close said the lawyer, Nathaniel Ellenbogen, 57, gave addresses of 38 Park Row, and 251 W. 98th street, New York city. Ellenbogen surrendered himself at the sheriff's office.

84 Memberships Listed by C of C

Eighty-four membership renewals and new memberships have already been received by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

This number was reported last night at the close of the first day of membership renewals. To date the one-day drive resulted in 18 new memberships.

Both Chamber president Vincent R. Burns and George J. Silkworth urged prompt renewals because only paid-up members will be listed in the classified directory. During the past year, 2,500 copies of the directory were distributed, mostly to new and prospective residents.

Faurote of Route 1, Kingston, is scheduled to arrive in San Diego, Calif., May 4 aboard the attack transport USS Montrose after completing a seven-month cruise in the Far East. Lima Paper Will Publish Again Despite Strike

Lima, Ohio, May 3 (AP)—The Lima News, still operating at about one-third normal employee strength, planned to publish again today despite a strike by the American Newspaper Guild.

Local 166 of the Guild struck Wednesday when negotiations to replace a contract that expired Feb. 28 collapsed. Members of the paper's mechanical department refused to cross the Guild's picket lines.

The News, an afternoon daily, came out with editions Wednesday and Thursday, but both times papers were late coming off the press.

The paper has been operating with about one-third the normal number of editorial and mechanical workers. Those working are not union members, a spokesman said.

The Guild said it is asking for "union security," in addition to some adjustments in the work week for advertising salesmen. The News says it is against a union shop for editorial and advertising employees.

BORING LITERATURE

The freshness and vigor of a nation's literature—its novels, plays, short stories, poetry—is one fairly good measure of its cultural health. By this standard, the United States appears to be suffering from a malady which could be serious but may be nothing more than headaches and general lassitude.

There is no lack of American writers. Their work rolls off the presses in surprising quantity. But books which have originality and fresh viewpoint, which instill in readers a sense of excitement and recognition, are extremely rare.

James T. Farrell, whose novels, short stories and works of criticism have made him one of America's best known writers, had something to say on the subject recently in his newspaper column. He considers many of the new writers "just plain boring." He also has little use for the advance guard of literary critics, who, in his view, "suffer from the new criticism which sees symbolism and allegory everywhere as women once saw imaginary men under the bed."

"I'll take the newspapers," Farrell said in his column, "to most of the stuff of our cultural advance guard. . . . And I am beginning to think that the present period of American literature and of the American cognoscente well may be termed the age of solemn, sanctimonious and paralyzing boredom."

This is rather a depressing statement from a man who has himself been in the main stream of American literature during the past quarter of a century. But it makes good sense to anyone who has dipped into many of the carefully written, over-symbolic, rather academic novels by men who should rather by laying about them vigorously with the cudgels of fresh insight into this disturbing world of ours.

WOMAN'S PLACE

The time is past when the saying, "Woman's place is in the home," was accepted without question. Fifty per cent of all single women, and 30 per cent of all married women, are today engaged in work outside the home.

Perhaps even more significant than the fact that so many women hold jobs is the fact that so many important jobs in industry, government and the professions are now open to women. Women today can hope to hold places in the cabinet, to be elected to high offices, to serve as ambassadors, and to act as business executives.

Some die-hard men may resent these advances. Yet resentment of change can never prevent it. Women, having once tasted the pleasures of equality and independence, are not likely to give up the advantages that go with their freer state.

There is no evidence that society is any poorer for the fact that women's roles have changed. On the contrary, women are making valuable contributions to society and there is plenty of evidence to show that they can do so and continue to fulfill their responsibilities as wives and mothers.

Times change. "Woman's place is in the home" may once have been a workable idea. Today's woman has elected to follow a road that is often difficult. Yet she is made of the same stern stuff as her grandmother, and we need not fear that her concern with careers outside the home will ever replace her devotion to the idea of a home of her own.

Perhaps some newspaper commentators are too hard on Nasser. All he is trying to do is to get every Arab to sign a contract with a reserve clause so that they'll only be able to play on his team.

'These Days'

HOW ABOUT MANNERS?

A reader telephones to register a complaint. It was a good complaint, so I told her to write to her two United States Senators and to her Representative. I said to write not once but twice. No vexation without representation is a good rule; also why not be a pest? It pays off on Election Day.

This reader's particular complaint is that Internal Revenue clerks are not polite. Well, that was her experience. Let her try other offices of the bureaucracy and she will discover that politeness is not on the Civil Service Examination papers. Nobody is paid to be polite. No union rules requires politeness. Besides the citizen might get the idea that he owns the government and that the job-holder is just a guy who dislikes working in a hardware store.

My reader must have given one of these little guys a blow in the solar plexus—verbal, of course—when he complained about the conditions under which he has to work. She said, "If you were any good as an accountant, you surely could get a better job, as there now is a shortage of all kinds of white collar help." That must have made the little guy real mad because he must have heard that one at home when his wife told him that her sister, who married a truck driver, owned a whole mink coat, while she, married to a government official, never even got a mink collar on a cloth coat. So the little guy upped the lady's income tax return by disallowing a few deductions, particularly those for charities given out of pocket which cannot be proved.

Churches could probably double their take, if they gave a receipt when they passed the collection plate because if there is a receipt, the deduction is true and proved, but without a receipt the giver is at the mercy of any little guy who can say, "How do I know you put more in the plate than a dime? And besides, how can you prove that you ever went to church, which I doubt seriously that you did because you look more like a late sleeper and a funny-page reader? Let me ask you a $64,000 question: How many brothers did Shadrach have and what were their names? Also what country did they live in and why?"

If you can't answer such a simple question, how can you prove that you went to church 52 times in one year not counting Christmas, Easter, funerals, weddings, etc., and each time you gave some money, all of which you now claim as a deduction? So, no deduction and if you don't like it hire a lawyer. A lawyer is a business expense and a justifiable deduction but a veterinarian isn't. Why should a veterinarian be? Is the dog your daughter or something? Be your age and pay your taxes and stop growling. It is like the field man who once told me that he had solved all his income tax problems by getting a low-pay job.

Having politely said something like this, but not in exactly such literate English, he shouted, "New!" like an old-time barber when a shave used to cost two bits, and my reader lost some money to Uncle Sam which I am sure will be spent usefully showing the people of Jordan how to preserve dates which they were doing for at least 5,000 years before Harold Stassen was born.

I sometimes wonder why clerks, elevator operators and such, working for the government of the United States, or state or municipal governments must always be so impolite. Many of them act as though they resent working for the public. They seem to want to assert their authority. "Get to the back of the car, you tax-paying sardine!" seems to be the general attitude.

Maybe the best way to handle a fresh guy is to sock him one but he might call a cop.

It is like here in New York where the Commies commit every kind of a nuisance but nobody complains, but when the Hungarian hero, Dr. Bela Fabian, tries to do something about it, he gets locked up. Who knows, maybe the cops were laying for an heroic anti-Communist. Somebody ain't got no manners, says I, in language no one can misunderstand.

WHAT'S UP WITH OUR MEDICAL SCHOOLS?

The American Medical Association has published a very informative booklet entitled "What's Up With Our Medical Schools?" which answers a great many questions in the public mind, and gives the facts as opposed to the myths.

Myth 1. Medical school graduates are not keeping pace with the population growth.

Facts. The number of physicians who have graduated from approved medical schools since 1910 has far outstripped the growth of the overall population in the United States. (Canadian figures tend to approximate those of the United States.) The general population has increased 80 per cent during this period while the supply of doctors has increased 120 per cent. The size of graduating classes is continually setting new records and the 6,977 graduates in 1955 was an all-time record. The number of doctors in the United States is at a record of one to every 730 persons, a proportion exceeded only by Israel which has an abnormal number of refugee physicians.

Myth 2. Medical schools try to keep their enrollments as small as possible.

Facts. Actually getting accepted by a medical school is by no means as difficult as some people have made it appear. Here is what causes so much confusion: Last year the 14,538 applicants to medical schools submitted a total of 47,568 applications—an average of 3.3 applications from each premedical student. As a result, the total number of applications received by medical schools is much higher than the actual number of people who want to get into a medical school. When we make the mistake of confusing these two figures, we naturally arrive at a rejection rate three or four times too high.

Also, about 30 per cent of the applicants each year are "repeaters" who have made previous attempts, many of whom have no real qualifications for medical school other than their desire to study medicine. As a matter of fact, some educators are concerned because they feel not enough good students are trying to get into medical school. Already some schools are finding it difficult to fill their freshman openings with first-rate applicants.

Myth 4. Only "A" students are admitted to medical schools.

Facts. In the 1954-55 freshman class, only 17 per cent of the students had "A" averages in the premedical college work. Approximately 63 per cent had "B" averages, and the remaining 14 per cent had "C" students. Most medical schools give important consideration to character, personality, leadership and other non-scholastic factors when selecting applicants. Because of today's better screening methods, relatively few medical students "drop out." The dropping rate for freshmen in 1954-55 was only 5.5 per cent as compared to 9.4 per cent 16 years ago.

"Those Were the Good Old Days"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Union racketeering disclosures before Sen. John L. McClellan's special investigating committee now vindicate fully the Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947, says ex-Congressman Fred A. Hartley Jr. of New Jersey.

With the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Hartley sponsored the Taft-Hartley Act. It was passed over President Truman's veto 10 years ago this June.

"If there is any fault with the law," says Hartley, "it is that we didn't go far enough. We exposed teamster racketeering back in 1947 under special authorization from the House. But the next year the Democrats won control of Congress and everything was dropped."

HARTLEY RESIGNED from Congress in 1949. Since then he has been a lecturer and consultant on labor relations. He maintains a Washington office through which he keeps in touch with labor affairs in Congress. And today he has 10 proposals for making his 1947 law more effective.

These are admittedly conservative, right-wing proposals. They jibe with the Eisenhower administration proposals for Taft-Hartley amendments in few respects. But they are characteristic of what has been stirred up in various parts of the country as a result of the McClellan committee hearings:

1. DENY NATIONAL LABOR Relations Board privileges to unions that use force and violence on the picket line.
2. Give NLRB jurisdiction over thousands of cases in which small business employers now have no relief from unfair labor practices under state or federal law.
3. Regulate union welfare funds.

There was a provision for this in the House labor bill in 1947. But the Senate knocked it out as being too much interference with union internal affairs.

Only now, 10 years later, is there administration and congressional support for this safeguard, says Hartley.

He points out that union welfare funds now total 32 billion dollars and are increasing three billion dollars a year. By contrast, U. S. Social Security trust funds now total only 22 billion dollars and increased only 900 million last year.

4. Tighten the featherbedding provision which prohibits only payments for performing no work at all. At the same time, Hartley says unions should be protected from speed-ups.

5. Curb union racketeering. There were subcommittee recommendations to take action on this in 1947, but nothing got into the draft legislation. Only now, under McClellan committee disclosures, is corrective action considered.

6. STRENGTHEN THE STRUCK WORK and secondary boycott provisions. There is a loophole in the law, says Hartley, which permits a secondary boycott if a labor leader persuades an employer not to handle hot cargo.

7. Take the "union busting" provision out of the act. Hartley declares this is a holdover from the Wagner Act. He says there has been no case where a union has been broken by the Taft-Hartley law. Instead, unions have grown. But they still use the Taft-Hartley law as their principal whipping boy.

8. Make unions subject to antitrust law regulation to prevent conspiracies in restraint of trade. Hartley maintains, however, that this should be limited to national strikes.

9. Pass a national "right to work" law. Eighteen states, 12 in the South, now have such statutes, banning the closed shop. Hartley was a founder, first president and is now an adviser to the National Right to Work Committee, which is lobbying for a federal law on this subject.

U. S. Press Bodies' Silence On McGurn Is Questioned

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 3—Nearly two weeks have passed since Barrett McGurn of the New York Herald Tribune was ejected from Egypt by order of dictator Nasser. Mr. McGurn wrote the truth about Egypt in his dispatches, but Nasser didn't like it.

Despite, however, this flagrant violation of the principle of the freedom of the press, not a single protest about it has been made by any of the national organizations of the newspaper profession here in America. Nor has the United States government gone on record in a public protest to the Cairo government.

This is surprising in view of the fact that the national news associations and trade bodies were holding annual meetings in New York in the week just after the expulsion of Mr. McGurn occurred. There has been plenty of time since for the different newspaper associations or their officers to express themselves.

American readers, of course, will not be able to believe hereafter what is transmitted from Cairo and published, since it is widely known that foreign newsmen in Egypt are being intimidated by threats of expulsion if they do not write to please Nasser. The Egyptian government has pointed with self-righteousness to the fact that it has opened the doors to a substitute correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune in Cairo. But the warning remains—that correspondents hereafter must write what the Egyptian government wants them to write or be expelled.

Case of Red China

Not long ago there was a barrage of publicity from a variety of newspaper organizations on the subject of the refusal of the United States government to grant passports to newsmen who were willing to accept Red China's invitation to visit that country. Mr. Dulles disagreed and was accused of trying to stifle freedom of the press. Hearings were held by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a Communist editor was invited to testify. Various Democrats in Congress tried to make political capital out of it.

Yet today, when a newspaper man is expelled by the Egyptian dictator, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee doesn't take up the matter, nor have there been any speeches made in Congress about it up to this time.

Restrictions by Peiping

The issue, however, in the matter of news reporting abroad has not been clearly defined insofar as governmental rights and diplomatic protection are concerned. If freedom of the press throughout the world is to be upheld, it will not be accomplished by entering, for example, into a compromise with the Red China government and, in a sense, letting American newspapermen become instruments of the Communist regime's foreign policy. For while the Red China government did invite a few reporters, it restricted the length of their visit, and, as experience has shown, it does not allow newsmen any freedom of travel inside China, even in the cities which are not in military areas.

But there's only one basis on which the American government can act and still maintain its traditional policy with respect to a free press. It is to insist that any American reporters be allowed to stay as long as they like in Communist countries—not just for thirty-day visits—and that they be allowed to talk with whomever they please and go to any cities which are not in military zones. This is freedom of information on a realistic basis. The same principle should, of course, be applied to all foreign countries.

Censorship in Russia

Thus, today Soviet Russia intimidates the American newsmen by subjecting their dispatches to constant censorship on non-military subjects. Even if they want to take pictures of ordinary street scenes, their cameras and films are sometimes confiscated. The Russian authorities feed political propaganda to the American newsmen, and much of it is printed in America in the guise of news, because the reporters cannot find out for themselves how much of it is spurious and how much of it is true.

It is interesting to note that, even though Great Britain recognizes the Red China government and maintains diplomatic relations at Peiping, no correspondents of the British press can stay in Red China longer than a few weeks at a time and their movements inside the country are severely restricted.

The struggle for the unlimited reporting of news throughout the world is too important to abandon, and the recent neglect of the McGurn case is certainly not a commendable chapter in the history of American newspaper organizations.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The work of the McClellan committee on union rackets thus far has consisted of exploitation of newspaper reporters' work-product, plus some details which only a public body, with power to subpoena and to punish for contempt, could elicit by compulsion. Reporters having no such authority, get results by leg-work, ingenuity and enthusiasm. Let our journalism succumb to an impulse to get fat-headed over the disclosures made by reporters in Scranton, in Portland, Ore., and on the Brewster racing stables in Los Angeles, let it be noted that this is a miserable total achievement by comparison with the immensity of the opportunity all over the land, we have more reason to be ashamed than proud.

I can point to many cities whose press has kept a still tongue for 25 years to propitiate union criminals lest they should blacklist their advertisers, picket their plants and otherwise pit the corporate stewards of the freedom of the press to inconvenience and loss.

The Kennedy brats, Jack and Bobby, have drummed up a great mass of publicity although they have done practically nothing but pose for pictures. Their old man, Joe, is pointing both kids toward high office. Jack's picture has occupied the covers of "Life" and "Mercury" in recent weeks and the whole family got a laudatory spread in a Sunday newspaper supplement with circulation in the millions. They both know more about dirty unions than most other politicians, but they, and the committee, under democratic management, have run in one place for weeks when they might have been poking out the rodents in the needlework trades and their vicious affiliates of truckers.

There is so little difference between Democrats and Republicans now, that the Republican lesser-half of this committee has done nothing to deserve credit for valor and principle.

The best job of reporting was done by Harold J. Brislin, of the Scrantonian-Tribune of Scranton, after public authorities ignored a local dynamiting involving gorillas sign in regional politics. Brislin kept going when there seemed to be no hope of hounding the crooks into court and thence into prison.

The final success capped a great job of old-style reporting and Brislin's handicap may be measured by the fact that the judge who tried the case and pronounced sentence, a local politician, of course, later reduced the terms and turned the rascals out under secrecy reminiscent of Charlie Poletti's stealth in running the jail-break of Sidney Hillman's murderous firebugs. During his brief spell as governor of New York when Herbert Lehman stepped down. There was no urgent reason why Lehman could not have finished out his term in person.

Brislin got confessions and tape recordings and he did this in an atmosphere so hostile that, after conviction and sentence, the criminals got a $30,000 "testimonial" dinner at a board adorned by one Jesuit, one Protestant minister and many members of the State Federation of Labor. The loot after the expense of the chicken-wing blue-plate with buckshot peas and ice cream was ear-marked for lawyers to get justice done for a gang of martyr dynamiters.

The Portland reporters had the advantage of two heads and two pairs of legs. They did good work but the brighter the lustre of their feat the more paltry the apathy of a local press which suffered this condition to exist so many years.

Prostitutes switched on and off in both the Scranton and Portland exposes in an interesting phenomenon. There is nothing like a little sexy sordidness to stimulate public interest in "investigations" and scores of poor, depraved hookers have rescued historic inquires of this kind from oblivion merely by holding still for pictures and proclaiming themselves to be fallen women.

If I may say so without vulgarity, I turned up the facts of the Brewster stables by routine methods. The late Harry Lundberg, Popeye the Sailor of the Seamen's Union of the Pacific, casually mentioned Brewster's horses during a little talk at the bar in his headquarters in San Francisco last September. After Ike was safely nominated, Jack McDonald, the sports editor of the Call-Bulletin, gave me a good deal of stuff. I then phoned Ed Stone, managing editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer who saved me the cost of going up there by sending down a memo. Then I went to the office of the State Racing Board in Los Angeles and wrapped it up.

The latest case of George Scalise, who finally pleaded guilty in a liquor union "welfare" racket, was handed to Vincent O'Connor, then of Frank Hogan's office in New York, five years ago. It was all contained in a letter to me from an old Chicago cop. Occupied with other matters I trusted O'Connor to tell me when they were ready to spring the trap, but he went on to another job and Al Scotti, who took over, honestly forgot all about me.

Well, so it goes, sometimes, but here we have four big jobs, with the Kennedy boys and Hogan bowing right and left to the thunders of unheard applause, all of which were put in their chubbly fists by reporters. But he said this is no excuse for vanity in journalism. The score should be four thousand, such feats used to be routine in city-wide newspaper work.

Austin, Tex., May 3 (AP)—A 36-hour filibuster against a segregation bill ended at 2:02 a. m. (CST) today when State Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio surrendered the floor. The Senate then quickly passed the measure by voice vote with nine senators recording votes of no against it. The bill would allow school boards to assign pupils to any school within its district. It was the first of a group of bills designed to maintain segregation in Texas schools.

Mass for Bishop

Columbus, Ohio, May 3 (AP)—A pontifical requiem high Mass will be sung in St. Joseph's Cathedral here at 11 a. m. Wednesday for The Most Rev. Michael J. Ready, bishop of the 23-county Columbus Diocese. Bishop Ready died last night in Mt. Carmel Hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage. The 64-year-old Roman Catholic prelate had been ill for several years. Bishop Ready was installed as fifth bishop of the Columbus Diocese Jan. 4, 1945, succeeding Bishop James J. Hartley, who died a year earlier.

Viennese composer Johann Strauss ("The Blue Danube" is his work) wrote his first waltz at the age of six.

ADVERTISEMENTAccord Notes

By JULIUS LUDWIG

What's in a Name?

Visitors have sometimes asked us, "How did Accord get that name?" Recently a young man whose family has lived here for generations told us the story. Seems that many years ago the village had another name which, it was discovered, had already been adopted by a not-too-distant community. So what to call the place? The villagers could not agree on a name and there was much wrangling; finally someone said, "Best call the place 'Discord'; that seems most descriptive." This made everyone laugh, and they decided to agree and call the village Accord. And Accord it is to this day.

In furniture, too, names carry weight. Take such names as Pennsylvania House, Valentine Seaver, Kroehler, Barcalo, Lane to mention a few. They stand for quality. Everyone knows they embody the best in workmanship and materials — that they can be purchased with pride and confidence. The Accord Furniture & TV Mart on Route 209 in Accord (just a short drive from Kingston) has on display name brand living room suites, dining groups, bedroom and occasional pieces, lamps — everything for the home. All at guaranteed lowest prices. Come in and browse through their showrooms any weekday from 9 to 5:30, Saturdays to 7, and "open house" on Sundays from 2 to 6.

VOTE NO ON THE $2,667,500 BOND ISSUE FOR THE PROPOSED NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

BECAUSE the need has not been definitely established at the present time West Hurley and Woodstock have already voted to leave the Kingston School System, and some of the other adjacent areas are seriously contemplating forming their own school systems. Forty-five per cent of our High School registration and Thirty-Three per cent of our Junior High School registration is composed of non-resident children. If this group leaves Kingston our classrooms will be more than adequate for a long time.

BECAUSE the cost of the proposed school is approximately one third higher than other schools recently built in the area, such as the Port Ewen School and the Chambers School. By comparison we feel that the proposed school would be wasteful and extravagant to the taxpayers.

BECAUSE the area selected would add considerably to an already congested traffic problem. Additional cars and busses would create more confusion and delay in the uptown section. Also, our present sewage disposal system would not be adequate and would have to be rebuilt at considerable additional expense. We suggest that the Board of Education re-examine plans already designed for a school at Hasbrouck Park that have been prepared at a cost of many thousands of dollars.

We strongly suggest that the Board of Education contact the adjacent areas to insure the proposed school will be fully occupied before spending millions of dollars of the taxpayers money.

Burglary Reported At Highland Place

Three buildings on a property owned by the Followers of Father Divine, River road, Highland, were burglarized some time between last Saturday and yesterday, Highland state police reported.

Troopers said that three large hams, 180 pounds of pork chops, eight sheets, three pillow cases and four quilts were taken from the buildings.

Miss Noah Endurance, a caretaker on the property, told state police she left last Saturday and did not return until Thursday. When she noticed "a break in one of the doors," Miss Endurance checked the buildings and discovered the food and bed clothing, missing, troopers said.

Troopers said the items apparently were stolen by some one who stayed in one of the buildings overnight.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., May 3—A sound of rejoicing is today echoing across the western Great Plains. Mother Nature at long last has showered down copious rains and heavy snows upon wide areas of that drought-stricken region. As a result, soil moisture conditions in much of the Great Plains are more encouraging than they have been in several years.

Farmers and businessmen living in the Great Plains naturally are greatly concerned as to whether these much-improved moisture conditions are a mere flash in the pan or the real thing. Crops in some instances have been hard hit; valuable topsoil has been blown away; cattle have been starved or farmers have been forced to liquidate them for lack of feed; and some people living on the land are facing poverty. Although this five-year drought has been less destructive on the whole than the disastrous droughts of 1934 and 1936, it has been severe. I can well appreciate the mounting hope in many hearts that it may now be ending.

I wish I could give them definite assurance that the worst is over. Perhaps it is. However, I am a statistician and not a weather forecaster—at least not a very good one. Professional weather forecasters tell me that it takes about six months of above-normal precipitation to end a major drought. If so, in this respect at least there is still some distance to go before we can know for a certainty that the drought has ended. Incidentally, there are still sizeable sections of Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Texas and Ohio that remain parched. The one sure thing is that over-all moisture conditions have materially improved—the trend is in the right direction. The drought is old, and this is another favorable factor. By the law of averages, it should not last much longer.

Gaining Drought Knowledge

Whether recurrent droughts will ever cease to plague the western Great Plains is a secret buried deep in Nature's crystal ball. Perhaps scientists some day will come up with something very constructive. Meanwhile, farmers are learning more and more how to live with droughts and come out ahead or at least break even. They have come a long way in this respect since the Dust Bowl days of the Thirties, when about all they could do was to "take it lying down," or pull up stakes and migrate to other, more favored areas.

The smart farmer of the Great Plains no longer plows and plants indiscriminately. He knows the value of soil-conservation methods, of irrigation, of modern farm tools, of contour plowing and terracing, of sowing drought-resistant cover crops where and when needed, and of shelter belts of trees. He also now gears the kind of crop planted to soil-moisture conditions prevailing at the time of planting, and utilizes moisture-conservation techniques and diversified farming. By these and other modern agricultural methods and practices designed to lessen the risk to farmers and crops from drought or other destructive forces, he is making real progress under all conditions.

Trend to Larger Farms

These various modern methods of farming and of minimizing the effects of droughts or other adverse conditions all point in one direction—toward larger, better equipped, and more skillfully managed farms. The one-man farm even now is as outdated as the "one horse shay." This "farm revolution" has made rapid progress in recent years. There are, for instance, a million more tractors on U. S. farms today than there were in 1950; 131 per cent more pick-up hay balers; 51 per cent more corn-pickers; 39 per cent more grain combines; and 12 per cent more milking machines.

On the other hand, the number of U. S. farms has declined 11 per cent since 1950—from 5,379,250 to 4,783,021. Yet total farm area has not changed much since then. Therefore, the size of many farms has increased. It is only on these larger, well-managed farms that the full benefits of mechanization and modern techniques can profitably be realized. Such farms are in a much better position to survive prolonged drought or other adversities than is the small, poorly managed farm. They are here to stay. Farming in America now is "big business." I, therefore, forecast another relatively good year for most American farmers. They are a sturdy, intelligent, industrious, and God-fearing group. This is a combination of qualities hard to beat, and one America sorely needs today.

Minority Spokesman

Indianapolis (AP)—Expected unanimity on a routine amendment was broken suddenly in the Indiana House the other day. After a mumbled chorus of "ayes," Speaker George S. Dienner (R-Indianapolis) conformed to rules by asking for any opposition. Startled legislators heard a faint "no." It was 6-year-old Ann Elsner, daughter of Rep. Edward P. Elsner Jr. (D-Seymour). She was serving as a page for the day.

O'Brien Returning

New York (AP)—After an absence of 27 years from Broadway, Pat O'Brien is returning next season in a play, "A Casual Miracle." In it he will play a familiar characterization—a hard-boiled newspaper editor.

WALLKILL NEWS

Girl Scouts to Hold Spring Rally May 14

Wallkill, May 1—The annual Spring Rally of the Ulster County Girl Scouts will be held at Camp Wendy Saturday, May 4. Activities will begin at 10 a. m. and end with a color ceremony at 3 p. m. Parents and other interested adults are urged to attend with their Girl Scout or Brownies, as this affords an excellent opportunity to see Camp Wendy and to meet Scouters from all the neighborhoods in Ulster county. Those attending are asked to bring a picnic lunch for their own group, and beverage will be provided. It is suggested that it be an outing for the entire family. A prize will be awarded to the Troop with the largest percentage of member attendance and to the troop with the largest percentage of adults attending. With the camp so near, Wallkill should be well represented and parents are asked to make a special effort to attend.

There will be another opportunity for the adults to use Camp Wendy and to help get ready for the summer camp period if they will participate in the spring work weekends. June 8 and 9 have been assigned to the men of the Wallkill Neighborhood and there is a chance for the fathers to do their bit for the girls by going to camp on either of those days.

Women of this area have been assigned the weekend of June 29 and 30 and it is asked that they take scrubbing equipment and their lunch. This is a chance for parents to enjoy a day of fellowship in the out-of-doors with other parents of Scouts as well as accomplish the rejuvenating job at Wendy. Contact Neighborhood Chairman, Mrs. Arnold Hammesfahr, if any further information is needed about the spring work weekends.

Church Notes

Wallkill Reformed Church news—Sunday, May 5, Sunday school convenes at 10 a. m. and regular morning worship services follow at 11 a. m. The Rev. Walter N. Van Popering officiating. The choir will sing under the direction of J. Henderson, and Mrs. Louise Didsbury will be at the organ.

Tuesday, May 7, the annual spring conference of the Missionary Union of the Classis of Orange meets at the Wallkill Church at 10:30 a. m. with morning and afternoon sessions. A luncheon will be served at the church hall by members of the Wallkill Society.

Friday, May 10, the spring dinner of the Dutch Arms of the Classis of Orange will be held at 7 p. m. at the Pine Bush Grange Hall. The Rev. Donald MacNeill of the Arabian Mission will be the speaker. Reservations may be made with J. A. Ronk or S. K. Sloan.

Mrs. Sam Mizerak and Mrs. Clifford H. Caswell have been named to head the drive to recruit homes this year for Friendly Town children from the East Harlem Protestant Parish. The children will be here from July 11 to July 25. Anyone desiring to be host to these children should contact one of the chairmen as soon as possible. This is sponsored by the Wallkill Reformed Church and last year a number of children were guests in the Wallkill village.

The Sacrament of Holy Baptism will be administered during the morning services, May 12, at the Wallkill Reformed Church. Anyone desiring to have their children baptized, should contact Rev. Walter N. Van Popering before Thursday, May 9.

Achievement Day Is Scheduled May 8

All citizens are continually being urged to vote by leaders in government, industry and education and we in Hurley are proud to have four senior citizens who are outstanding examples of men who, down through the years, have never failed in this duty."

Tough Play Sets South

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you want to get the most out of today's article look at the bidding and at the East and North hands only. Then put yourself in the position of Dan Westerfield of Phoenix who was East and see if you come up with the right defense.

Dan who won his partner's opening lead of the deuce of diamonds with the king and looked over the dummy carefully. Four tricks would be necessary to defeat the contract and Dan expected to make three of them himself. The problem was to get a fourth out of his partner's hand.

Should West hold the king of spades, Dan noted that four tricks would almost surely be produced if he just sat pat and waited. West would get in with that king of spades and shift to a club and everything would be fine.

Dan also noted that his partner just could not have the king of spades. South had come in freely with a bid of two hearts on a suit headed by king-jack at best and the king of spades was the only other really high card that he wasn't looking at in his own hand or in dummy. Once he had concluded that South held the king of spades, Dan had no real problem left. The only way he could beat the hand would be to find his partner with both the queen and jack of clubs. Accordingly Dan shifted to the six of clubs. This play produced two club tricks for his side and beat the contract. Easy enough if you can see all the cards but a right tough play at the table.

Area Student Art To Be Displayed

Outstanding art works by students in the schools of the Hudson Valley have been placed on display this week at the State University Teachers College, New Paltz. The exhibit will be open to visitors until May 12.

This is the fourth year that the "School Art Festival" has been sponsored by the college, according to John Harrison, associate professor of art in the Campus School and festival chairman.

25 Represented
The 25 schools represented in the festival are:

Poughkeepsie, Yonkers, Arlington, Callicoon, Highland Falls, Highland, Walkill, White Plains, Berne, Hyde Park, New Paltz, the Campus School, Boiceville, Middletown, Cornwall-on-Hudson, Wappingers Falls, Hawthorne, Newburgh, Hastings-on-Hudson, Tarrytown, Kingston, Napanoch, Ossining and Cold Spring.

Mr. Harrison explained that the purpose of the exhibit is to give recognition to young people who are doing excellent creative work in the elementary and secondary schools and to acquaint students in the art education program with the work being done in the schools.

Although visitors are welcome to view the display at any time, Mr. Harrison said, Saturday has been scheduled as a special visiting day for participating pupils, their teachers and parents.

Summer Session Program Announced

A comprehensive summer session has been planned at State University Teachers College, New Paltz, according to Dr. John H. Jacobson, dean of the college, who is in charge of the summer's activities.

During the six-week period, July 1 to August 9, the college will offer graduate study in elementary and early childhood education, elementary school administration and supervision, junior high school teaching, and the intensive teacher training program. The usual eight-week undergraduate program for accelerated and other students will begin July 1 and continue until August 23.

The summer session will inaugurate a graduate program in art education.

Offer Graduate Session
Also from July 1 to August 9 the college will offer a graduate session on the campus of the Long Island Agricultural and Technical Institute, Farmingdale. This session will include courses in the intensive teacher training program, and in the teaching of reading, science, music, children's literature and arithmetic.

Other courses at New Paltz to be offered late in the summer are the driver education workshop and the summer workshop in art for high school students, both scheduled for August 12 to 23. A one-day school administrators institute dealing with New York state education law will be conducted on the campus August 9.

The junior high school program offers an opportunity for persons holding elementary certification to extend their certification to include teaching academic subjects in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

The special features this summer are as follows:

1. The foreign study program "Art in Europe," from July 4 to August 31 which includes visits to the main art centers of Europe, which may be taken either for eight hours of undergraduate or graduate credit.

2. A seminar in teaching about Asia, scheduled from July 1 to August 9 for teachers who want to extend their understanding of the peoples and nations of Asia, will also be offered for eight undergraduate credits.

Persons interested in additional literature or information concerning any of the summer session activities are asked to write to the director of summer sessions, State University Teachers College, New Paltz.

Can't Tell, He Says

Jacksonville, Fla., May 3 (AP)

The new commander of Jacksonville's famed hurricane hunters says there is no way to predict whether the hurricane season opening June 17 will be a mild or mean one. Cmdr. Nicholas Brango, who took over today, was asked whether the 1956 season might be an indication of another light year. He said no one could say because "climatic aspects of hurricanes are so slow in changing that there is little or no way of determining if there is a lessening trend." Brango, 42, a native of Norristown, Pa., is a veteran of 16 years flying and one of the navy's top experts in tropical storms.

Feuds Put Aside As Friends, Foes Extol McCarthy

Washington, May 3 (AP)—In life, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin was at the turbulent center of a national and international storm of condemnation and praise. In death today, the reaction was uniformly kind.

President Eisenhower, who long ago abandoned the Wisconsin Republican as a political or personal ally, issued a statement of regret and sent a personal message to the senator's widow.

Ike Sends Message

The statement said "... Mrs. Eisenhower joins me in extending our profound sympathy in the grievous personal loss she has sustained."

McCarthy had been no longer welcome at White House social gatherings, and Mrs. McCarthy retaliated recently by refusing to accept an invitation to a White House luncheon held by Mrs. Eisenhower.

Vice President Nixon said of McCarthy:

"As a man who devoted a major part of his public career to his campaign against Communist infiltration in the United States, Sen. McCarthy became one of the most controversial figures of his generation."

"Years will pass before the results of his work can be objectively evaluated, but his friends and many of his critics will not question his devotion to what he considered to be the best interests of his country."

McCarthy's Communist-hunting tactics angered many people beyond endurance, and stirred many others to violent defense and ardent praise. But friends and foes alike put aside old feuds today.

Truman: Too Bad

Some comments: Former President Truman, who once called McCarthy a pathological case, "Too bad, I'm very sorry to hear the news of the senator's death."

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.): "...his passing takes out of the American political arena a courageous fighter against communism and a stalwart advocate of our traditional political concepts."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.): "...a man of strong convictions... he will be missed from the American scene."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.): I had my differences, as did other senators, with Sen. McCarthy... he was fighter for what he thought was right."

Called Shocking Loss

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), one of McCarthy's closest friends in the Senate: "America has lost a fighting patriot, a courageous man who was willing to pay the price for his convictions and for his country."

Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), another close friend: "...a shocking loss... (he) literally gave his life to preserve freedom for all Americans."

Former Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho): "Wisconsin and the nation will take years to recuperate from the loss... I love him personally... the height of his power during the 1954 row which became known as the Army-McCarthy hearings. Comments from persons involved in that fight included:

Other Comments

Roy M. Cohn, who was a special investigator for McCarthy's investigations subcommittee: "... Few public figures in our time have done so much for the United States, and received so many heartaches for it..."

G. David Schine, another special investigator: "... A tragic loss to his family, his friends, the United States Senate and his country..."

Ray Jenkins, the Knoxville, Tenn., lawyer who was special counsel for the committee during the Army squabble: "McCarthy was a symbol of devoted, dedicated, patriotic service... we all owe him a debt of gratitude..."

A spokesman for Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a long-time target of McCarthy, said Zwicker will have "absolutely no comment whatsoever." McCarthy only recently attempted to block Zwicker's promotion to major general.

Views of Neighbors

Neighbors, here and in Wisconsin, added their own last tributes: George W. E. Ennis, who lives just two houses away from the McCarthy home here: "Just as fine a fellow as you'd ever want to know... He played no favorites. He went after 'em. He was a true-hearted American."

Mason C. Lipscomb, another neighbor: "... He was really a friendly neighbor... Just an awfully nice fellow."

Mayor Robert L. Roemer of Appleton, Wis., speaking for the city: "Our city and state and nation have lost an outstanding citizen."

Philip G. Kuehn, Milwaukee, state Republican chairman: "... A great shock. He shall go down in history as one of the most courageous and outspoken senators of all time... His death shall be recorded as one of the most tragic casualties in the bitter fight against world communism..."

Buddha's Footprint

A depression atop a mountain in Ceylon is regarded by Buddhists as the footprint of Buddha, made when he stepped from earth to heaven. Moslems consider it made by Adam, who allegedly stood 100 years on one foot in penance for original sin.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
THE TAX HOUNDS

It takes warmth to hatch an egg,—money to feed the hen to keep her warm. Throughout the nation, thousands of young men and women work at businesses of their own. They have invested their savings; worked long hours, with no coffee breaks; and lived on bare necessities in order to save enough to expand their small ventures. Some may fail; others will grow and provide jobs—that is, if workers produce efficiently and so make possible a profit for the owners.

But here is a barrel of moonshine. Will Government let these young people keep enough profit to expand and move ahead? The Internal Revenue boys are a hungry lot of wolves, without warmth or friendly attitude for those who create wealth. The Federal agents moan like wounded panthers when any one suggests a reduction in tax rates.

Punitive tax laws and monopolistic labor leaders encourage no nest-egg for any one's future. Now the outcome of this means Socialism: no private property; no free markets; no freedom of enterprise; and no limit to governmental controls of wages and profits. Ninety-nine per cent of all our people oppose Communism, but not Socialism, which is deodorized Communism. Tax collectors insist on knowing what you make, and how you spend your earnings. The taxpayers should demand: How do you spend the money you take from us? That's fair enough. Neighbor, the tax hounds turn tail on that one. No warmth.

Convicted DA Is Busy With Slate Of Events Today

Portland, Ore., May 3 (AP)—William M. Langley, the Portland district attorney convicted of failing to prosecute gamblers, set off on a busy schedule again today.

It called for him to be:

1. In State Circuit Court, where his attorneys were scheduled to argue that he should remain in office while an appeal is made from his conviction. The conviction calls for removal from office, but sentence has not yet been imposed.

2. In U. S. District Court, where he is a witness against gambler Big Jim Elkins, who is on trial on wiretap charges.

3. At the State Capitol in Salem, where the State Senate Judiciary Committee, now investigating state grand jury procedures, called him to testify to-night.

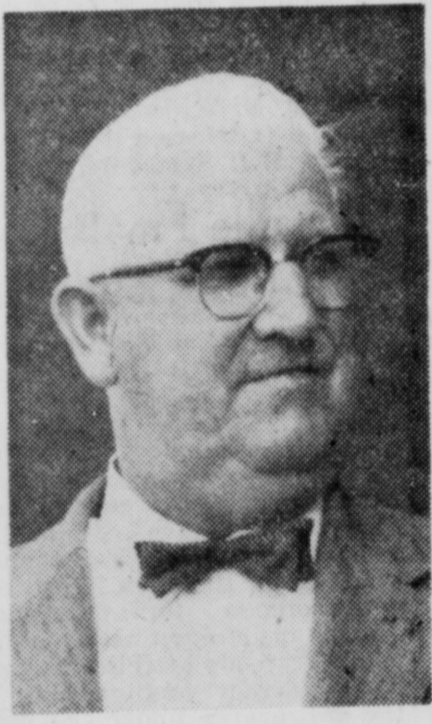

The State Circuit Court appearance had been scheduled yesterday, but was postponed because of conflict with the federal trial.

Langley still was on the stand when the trial recessed for the night. He identified his voice on 10 recorded conversations. The prosecution says the recordings

AN UNUSUAL SITUATION

A bride-to-be writes as follows: "On my fiancé's and my own list for our wedding invitations is a certain couple whom my parents refuse to invite because of their intense personal dislike of them. It will be most awkward if these friends of ours are not invited, and yet my parents are giving the wedding and the reception and I suppose should have the final say. But I think personal prejudices should be left out of determining this list. They are friends of ours and as such my fiancé and I feel they should be invited. Will you express your opinion?"

The reason for your parents' intense dislike of this couple is hard to understand in view of the fact that you and your fiancé both want them with you at your wedding. And unless there is a really serious reason why they should not be included, I think your parents should overcome their prejudice and invite them this once.

Present to Guest of Honor?

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it customary, or has it become so lately, to give a present to the guest of honor? I am giving a luncheon for a friend in honor of her approaching marriage (it is not a shower) and wondered if, as hostess, I am in courtesy expected to provide her with a gift on this occasion?

Answer: According to established etiquette, there is no reason why you should provide a gift for this guest. On the other hand, if it happens to be a custom in your own community—then do so by all means.

How to Eat Brick Ice Cream

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to eat brick ice cream? I have always eaten it with a spoon, but my friend tells me this is wrong and that it should be eaten with a fork. Who is right?

Answer: Spoon is usual although fork is not incorrect.

Many girls ask for directions for filling a hope chest. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet, E-5, "The Bride's Trousseau," includes a list of essential linens. Four Musical Events Planned by College

Four musical events are scheduled at the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, during the first part of May, according to an announcement made this week by members of the music faculty. The public is invited to attend, free of charge.

The Women's Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Marion H. Harding, will present "Sister Angelica," an opera in one act, tonight in the college auditorium at 8:30. Miss Harding said that this was one of the few operas written for women's voices and that this was the first time in many years a musical event of this kind is to be presented by the college.

The College Community Orchestra, directed by Dr. O. Lincoln Igou, will give a final reading of the works of Bach, Handel, Franck and Glazounov, in the college auditorium, Monday evening, May 6 at 8.

Soloists for the presentation will be David E. Kearns, violinist, who has played with the Dutchess County Philharmonic Orchestra, and George E. Spence, oboist, who has been a member of the Hartford Symphony and has been active in chamber music ensembles in the area. At present both men are members of the United States Military Academy Band.

The major work scheduled on the program is the Solitary Symphony of Cesar Franck, in D Minor, which was described by Dr. Igou as one of the most pre-tentious undertakings ever faced by the New Paltz orchestra.

The College Band, directed by Victor Landau has scheduled an after-dinner concert on the lawn in front of the College Union Building at 7 p. m. Thursday, May 9. The program will include selections by Bach, Heiden, Beethoven, Schumann and Bizet.

In case of inclement weather, the concert will be held in the Main Lounge of the College Union Building.

The final musical event of the school year will be a presentation by the College Community Mixed Chorus which is scheduled for May 14 at 8:15 p. m. in the College Auditorium.

Under the direction of Robert Strothke, the Chorus is composed of 70 members made up of students, faculty and persons from New Paltz and the surrounding areas. Mrs. Arthur Kurtz is the accompanist.

World Scout Fund Is Dedication to Liberty Bulwark

The Boy Scout World Friendship Fund was launched Wednesday afternoon when Johan Aalto, president of Rip Van Winkle Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, presented the executive board's contribution to the council.

Each Cub, Scout and Explorer will be urged to share in a small donation to the fund in observance of the Golden Jubilee Year of Scouting and the 100th anniversary of the birth of Baden-Powell, founder of the movement.

"Truly Long Reach"

"This project will enable every Cub Scout, Boy Scout, Explorer and their leaders to join in a personal and vital outreach of friendly helpfulness in an international good turn with a truly long reach," it was noted by Arthur A. Schuck, chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

"Every day the world's news spells out for us the necessity of extending and expanding our encouragement of our brother Scouts in a personal and practical way. Strengthening Scouts and Scouting in any country will materially help in bulwarking the efforts of that nation to build and maintain a way of life dedicated to the world cause of liberty, justice, and the brotherhood of man.

Join Hands

"Whether our Good Turn takes the form of sending books, literature, training, program ideas, or equipment will not be the vital point. The real impact will come from the fact that each of us according to our ability, will have shared in making this help available—when and where it was needed—in the true spirit of Scouting. This will be a powerful reassurance to our Scouting friends across the seas.

"Since its inception eleven years ago, the World Friendship Fund has been the bridge across which our Packs, Troops and Explorer units have sent a steady stream of expressions of help and good will to war-torn and less fortunate countries in all parts of the world. Conditions in each area have determined what help was given."

The May 1 launching date is Scouting's answer to communism's traditional demonstration day May 1. This World Friendship effort will continue with each Cub, Scout, Explorer and Scouter having a chance to participate. The effort will culminate on July 4, America's greatest day of freedom.

All Scout units in Ulster and Greene Counties that make up the Rip Van Winkle Council will take part.

The Mature Parent

Praise Child's Hard Work Instead of Honors It Wins

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

During Martha's second term in the eighth grade, she maintained third place on its honor roll. This honor brought her another one—an appointment as class historian at her graduation exercises.

Her parents were delighted. They praised her as their clever girl and told everyone they knew about how wonderful she was. Now neither of these school honors really conferred bliss on poor Martha. In the last busy weeks of school, the class historian appointment was a particular source of strain and overwork. The night before Martha's graduation, she broke down under it. Nervously exhausted, she burst into tears and had to be put to bed with a glass of hot milk.

But her younger sister never registered this reality. Her parents' overpraise of Martha's glories had so focused her attention on the glories that she was blind to the hard work which had produced the glories.

Years later, still jealous, she will cry out to Martha, "Don't tell me you didn't love being Dad's clever girl! Why, you once cried your head off because you hadn't made top place on the honor roll. It was the night before you graduated from grammar school . . ."

Such resentment is bound to be fomented between children when we overpraise their achievements.

Their bad feeling reflects our mistaken values. Had Martha's parents the moral values that would have enabled them to praise the hard work behind her honors instead of the honors themselves, her younger sister would have valued the hard work, too.

In place of envy, she'd have felt sympathy for her sister. Instead of coveting her honors as favors hopelessly remote from her, she'd have seen them realistically for what they were—results also available to her hard work.

In America we put too much value on the success of effort. It makes us all very nervous. Nobody can possibly guarantee another the success of his effort whether he's an insurance salesman starting out to sell a new policy or Martha struggling to improve her school marks. When we put the cart before the horse and glorify her achievement of the honor roll instead of her struggle, our confusion creates confusion.

It produces rivalry, tension and other evil effects.

To which the maiden respectfully replied:

Daughter—Good morning, father.

"If I had a son, I'd do one thing, I'd tell him the truth. I'd never let him catch me in a lie. And in return I'd insist that he tell the truth. . . . I'd encourage him to join the Boy Scouts and boys clubs, but before he joined I'd make a point of getting acquainted with the leader of the troop. . . . I'd have my son go to church. What's more, I'd go with him. But above everything else, I'd try to understand my son. For if I didn't I'd be a failure as a dad."

High School Defeats Port in DUSO Baseball Opener, 6-3

Most of the area's golfers have resumed their annual life of quiet desperation.

The lure of springtime is magnificent, with lush, verdant fairways and beautifully cushioned greens combining with an intoxicating sense of expectancy to compound the frantic urgency that beats in the heart of all duffers.

If you have played for five years or more and find your scores in that same old dreary rut, forget it. You're a duffer, now and forever. Let us welcome the 1957 season with open arms and flailing club and may all your scores be only the kind you would tell your friends about.

Pitch Shots:

The most amusing golf yarn we've heard in a long time emanates from Hollywood Beach, Fla. It appears that a judge was playing with a club champion, away from home on winter vacation. The champion was in the habit of giving the judge a stroke a hole on the short, but narrow Hollywood Beach Country Club fairways. Came the day when both got in trouble on the same hole. They both decided to "pick up." They put X on the card and then came the jolting denouement to the young champion. "We both have Xs on this hole," said the judge with great magisterial dignity, "but I win it anyway. I get a stroke on this hole, you know." There is no record of what the young man said in reply.

A Grand Old Guy Passes On:

The Ulster County Seniors tournament will never be quite the same without the cheery presence of the late Frank W. Thompson Sr. Mr. Thompson played in all of the Senior events since the tournament's inception in 1953. He won the Class A championship in the inaugural season and was stout competitor through the years. He will be missed by his old cronies, but most of all by Rodney B. Osterhout. They formed an inseparable duo in the Seniors classic. Mr. Thompson also belonged to that relatively small group of golfers who had a hole-in-one to his credit. He bagged it on the No. 8 hole at the old Wiltwyck layout. When the first Seniors tournament was being set up, we referred to Mr. Thompson as an octogenarian. He frequently chided us about it. We deeply regret and are sad that he didn't quite make it.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

National Golf Day will be held at the Inverness Club in Toledo, Ohio, on Saturday, June 8. It will be the sixth annual event in which golfers throughout the country will put up $1 to match their score against that of Cary Middlecoff, 1956 National Open champion. In the past five years National Golf Day has resulted in a total of $542,750 being distributed to charity. Mrs. Wiggie deLisio of Woodstock was beaten in the finals of championship flight at Sunset Country Club, St. Petersburg, Fla., after winning 20-hole matches in the quarter finals and semi-finals. Ted Kroll, the World golf champion, who pocketed $50,000 when he won the 1956 World tourney at Tam O'Shanter, covered 75,000 miles on his eight-month, 23-state exhibition tour, including a stop at Wiltwyck Country Club. He received another $63,000 in exhibition appearances. Nate Freeman, golf pro at the Bayside Club in Miami Beach, has signed for the fourth season to oversee golf activities at the Nevele Country Club, Ellenville.

We recommend you see your doctor when you feel sick. But when your golf game is ailing, forget those instructional manuals or books. Drs. Gerlak, McMeekin and Hutchins are available to cure all your golfing ills.

Giannuzzi Whiffs 15

Maroon Lefthander Yields Only 3 Hits

Lefthander Renni Giannuzzi stifled Port Jervis High with a three-hitter and struck out 15 as Kingston High got off to a whirlwind start in its DUSO League bow by whipping the homestanding Red Raiders, 6-3, yesterday.

The fireballing portsider was near invincible as he let the Redmen down with a pair of bunt singles and a double by shortstop Russ Devore. He faced 30 batters in the seven inning duel as he twirled the best game of his high school career.

Giannuzzi had one bad inning—the fifth—when Port bunched all its hits for its entire total of runs. Otherwise, the Raiders were helpless against his slants. Kingston won the game in the last inning, snapping a 3-3 tie off Bill Pepper, another lefthander, who won the route for Port. Joe Beaver and Frank Sammons struck the big blows in the frame to drive in the runs.

Cragan Starts Rally
Bill Cragan launched the winning surge with a one-out double. After Bill Chase fanned, Hobie Armstrong walked. Beaver then slammed a single for the lead run and Sammons followed with his two-bagger to salt the game away.

The Maroons broke the scoring ice in the third on Armstrong's run-producing single which chased across Don Krueger who had gotten on through a fielder's choice.

Giannuzzi helped his own cause in the fifth by singling which triggered a two-run out-break. An error on Don Van Bruen's grounder with two down kept the rally alive and set things up for Chase's base knock which drove in the two markers.

Pepper allowed nine hits, three going to Sammons and two to Beaver. He struck out 9 and passed one. Giannuzzi walked two.

Gruner Very Pleased

Coach Al Gruner was overly pleased with the victory which came after successive losses to Arlington and Saugerties. Gruner was especially high on Giannuzzi. "He stuck to his fastball and that's something we have been after him to do," Gruner said.

The Maroon coach also praised the rest of the team and especially the hitting of Sammons and the way the latter handled Giannuzzi's deliveries. "Except for a few little things we have to iron out, like handling bunts better, I'm very satisfied," he concluded.

Next week KHS faces Middletown and Newburgh on the road Monday and Thursday in that order.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE

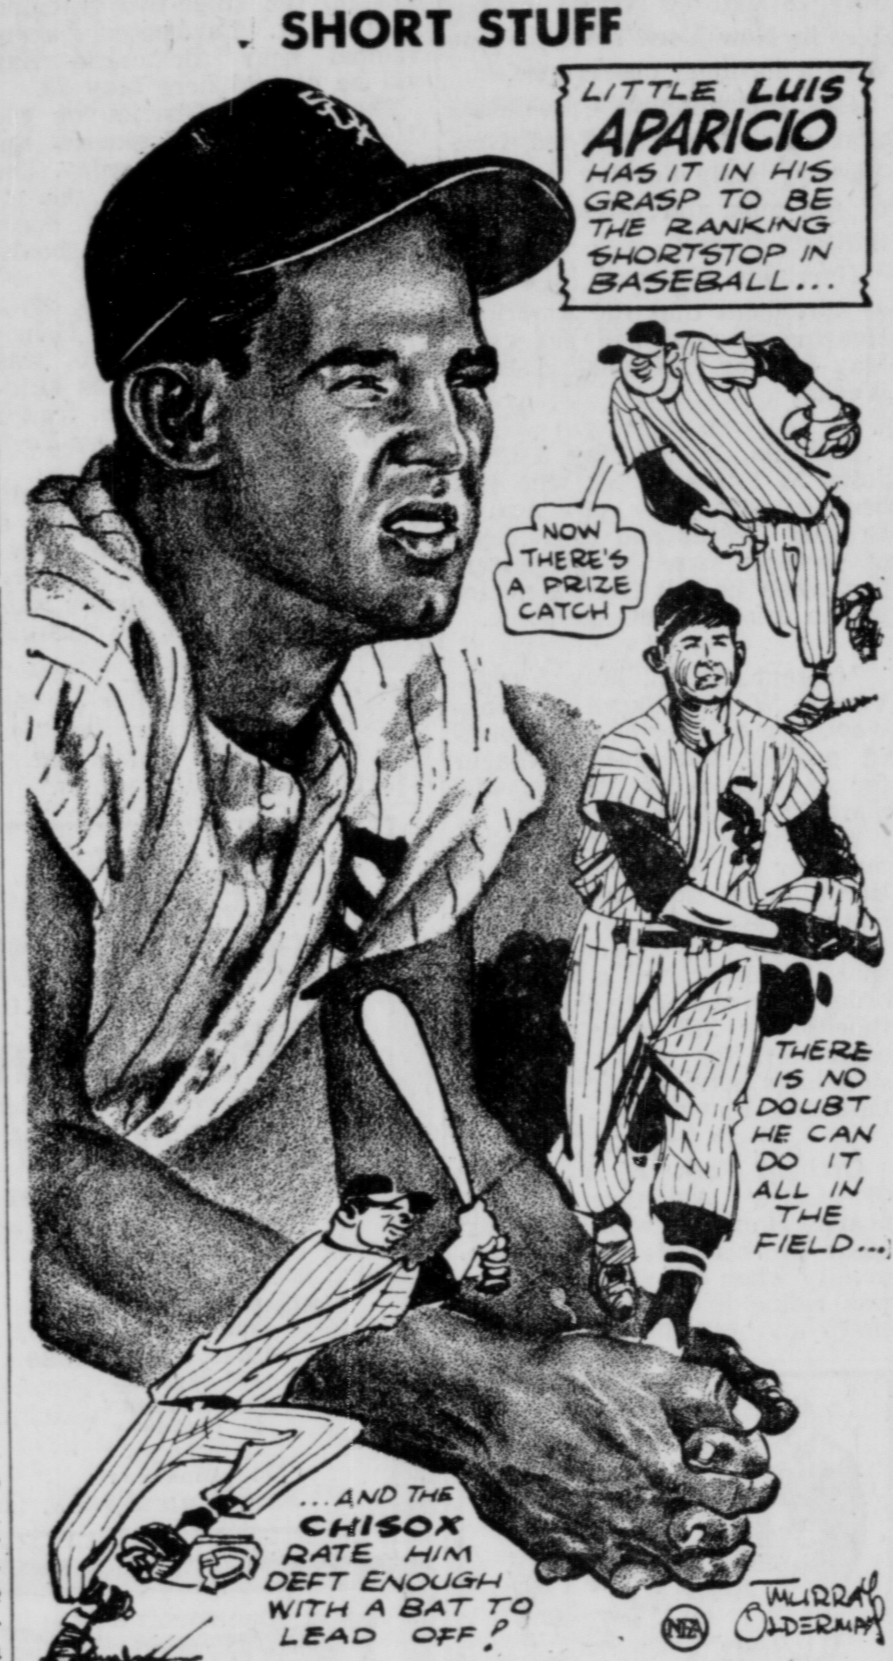

Fishing Editor

Aguaro River, Venezuela — (NEA)—During the past three weeks, we have traveled some of the most primitive country in the world. Across the Andes, down jungle rivers and into the llanos country—an endless savanna teeming with wildlife.

This is the drainage area of the Orinoco river, and to say that fishing here surpasses our wildest dreams is an understatement.

I waded the river below camp and cast a streamer fly for pavon. A pavon looks like an overgrown bigmouth bass, brilliantly colored in yellow and red, with dark transverse bars similar to the perch back home.

Mr. Pavon has unlimited power which he turns on after jumping. My first pavon weighed a mere two pounds, yet he ran off 20 or 30 yards of line.

By Record Margin

Gov. Clinton Keglars Annex Major Pennant

Governor Clinton Market swept three games from Boulevard Gulf last night to nail down the Ferraro Major League pennant by one of the widest margins in history.

The sweep sent the Marketeers soaring 10 games ahead of the runnerup Boulevard, with only six games left on the 1956-57 schedule.

Whitey Crispell powered a 625 series, with 179, 224 and 222. George Robinson furnished 539, Charlie Gildersleeve 216-589, Randy Kelder 493, Larry Petersen 211-206-614 for the new champions.

Broskie Shoots 619

Harold Broskie fired 204-238-619 and Jerry Oster 258-614.

The score by teams:
Gov. Clinton Market (3)—Whitey Crispell 625, George Robinson 539, Charlie Gildersleeve 589, Larry Petersen 614; 892-959-1009-2860.

Boulevard Gulf (0)—Joe Ausanio 200-548, Ken Joseph 210-554, Tim Bilyeu 214-559; 890-865-887-2642.

100 Yards of Reel

Twenty pavon later I hooked and landed a 15-pounder. This humbacked brute took 100 yards off the reel before jumping, and even with a heavy leader the fish was difficult to stop. My wrist was so tired that I had to quit fishing.

Although we are more than 700 miles from the sea, the Orinoco and tributary streams hold giant manatee, sting rays, electric eels and a host of other marine species. There are also queerly colored catfish weighing more than 100 pounds.

There are caribbe or piranha and an even "wicked" looking fish called the payara. His two front teeth are so long that nature gave him sockets for nostrils and the teeth fit comfortably through the top of his head.

All these fish are born hungry. If you wade with your pants rolled up, minnows pluck the hair off your legs.

Please, No Crepe Yet!

Robin Roberts Fans Thirteen To Blast 'Washed-Up' Rumors

(By The Associated Press)

Don't hang the crepe out yet for Robin Roberts. He's the healthiest looking "washed up" pitcher you ever saw.

The big Philadelphia righthander scotched talk that he is through as a top flight hurler with a brilliant 13-strikeout performance last night as the Phillies defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Roberts gave up only three hits and may have had the first no-hitter of his career but for a trade engineered by the Cubs the day before. The three Chicago hits were made by Dale Long and Lee Walls, whom Chicago acquired from Pittsburgh in the deal for Gene Baker and Dee Fondy. Long smashed a home run and single while Walls hit a three bagger.

Displaying a real live fastball for the first time this season, Roberts rolled up the highest strikeout total of his nine-year major league career in winning his first game after three losses. He walked one and faced only 31 batters, four over the minimum.

Milwaukee and Chicago's White Sox, the major league pacesetters, continued their winning ways. The Braves won their 11th game in 13 starts, defeating Pittsburgh 8-5 with a three-run outburst in the 10th. The triumph, coupled with St. Louis' 16-inning 3-2 triumph over Brooklyn, increased the Braves' National League lead over the Dodgers to two games. Cincinnati moved into fourth place, one game behind the Cardinals, with a 9-7 victory over the New York Giants.

Dropo Slams
Walter Dropo's grand slam home run, in the role of a pinch hitter, paced the White Sox to a 6-1 victory over Washington and boosted their first place margin in the American League to 2½ games.

The New York Yankees swept past Boston into second place edging Kansas City 3-1 while the Detroit Tigers knocked off the Red Sox 7-5. Cleveland and Baltimore were not scheduled. The Braves pounded three Pittsburgh pitchers for 18 hits but it took an error by third baseman Baker in the 10th to set up their winning tally. After Baker fumbled Del Crandall's grounder, Dick Cole sacrificed and Danny O'Connell broke the 5-5 tie with a single. Henry Aaron followed with his fifth hit, scoring O'Connell and crossed the plate later on an error and an infield out.

Burdette Wins Third
Lew Burdette, who won his third game against one defeat, had victory in his grasp in regulation time, but a three run homer by pinch hitter John Powers in the ninth forced the game into extra innings.

Don Blasingame's fourth hit, a single with two out in the top of the 16th, scored Eddie Miksis from second with the run that gave the Cardinals their 4-hour and 53-minute decision over the Dodgers. Miksis opened the inning by beating out a scratch single against loser Don Bessent and had advanced on a sacrifice. Larry Jackson, relieving starter Herm Wehmeier, who had fanned 13 Dodgers in the first 12 innings, was credited with his second overtime victory in three nights.

Cincinnati's Don Hoak rapped four hits, including a home run, and drove in five runs to lead the Redlegs' 14-hit attack against five Giant pitchers. The third baseman's last hit, a single with the bases full in the ninth, snapped a 7-7 deadlock. Exactly a year ago to the day—May 2, 1956, Hoak tied a major league record with six strikeouts. That was against the Giants, too. The Giants lost despite executing six double plays, which tied the National League record.

Donovan Tosses 5-Hitter

A five hitter by Dick Donovan featured the White Sox' 10th triumph in 12 starts. Dropo's grand slammer came in the sixth to hang a fourth straight defeat upon Chuck Stobbs who beat Chicago five times last year. Dropo was pinch hitting for Jim Rivera.

Rookie righthander Don Lee registered his first major league triumph when the Tigers scored five runs in the fourth inning against Boston's Tom Brewer on just two hits. The son of former major league pitcher Thornton Lee, less than a year off the University of Arizona campus, yielded four runs and eight hits before he was lifted in the eighth when the Sox threatened.

Tony Kubek ignited a two-run winning Yankee rally in the third with a three-bagger as the Yankees sneaked past the Red Sox into second place, 2½ games behind Chicago. A walk and steal by Mickey Mantle followed Kubek's triple. Yogi Berra drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and Bill Skowron drove in another with a single. Tom Sturdivant, with a seven-inning, gained the triumph. Riney Duren, a rookie righthander, was charged with the loss.

Hawks Face Oneonta in Ball Opener

New Paltz Teachers College opens its baseball season tomorrow (Saturday) when it hosts Oneonta Teachers in a 2:30 p. m. game.

Coach Loren D. Campbell said that he had not yet chosen the starting nine but that he was building a team around six returning lettermen and three squad members from last year's team. Fourteen additional squad members make up the total of 23 men competing for starting positions.

Listed among last year's lettermen who undoubtedly will see considerable action are pitcher Frank Buckley, senior from Troy, who is a probable starter for the opener; Sophomore Jack Hussnatter from West Sayville has been named as possible starter in the catcher's spot.

New Paltz Infield
In the infield list, Campbell has letterman Bill Moslander, junior from Rye; Tom Murphy, sophomore from Patchogue; and Bob Mc Mann, sophomore from Walden. Sophomore George Juliani is the only returning letterman on the outfielder list.

Three team members who saw some action last year are sophomore Ron Young from Locust Valley, who was listed as an outfielder; Tomm Annacoe, senior from Peekskill who will play in the infield; and pitcher Al Levine, sophomore from Flushing.

Among the squad members who are mentioned by Coach Campbell as good possibilities are outfielder Fred Yardley, junior from East Hampton, and Ed Beck, freshman from Clinton Corners, who will share the catching duties with Hussnatter.

Gen. Duke Doubtful Derby Field For Saturday Cut to Ten

Louisville, Ky., May 3 (AP)—

This Ohio River city, steeped in the lore of the thoroughbred, went on its annual pre-Kentucky Derby festive binge today with one ear cocked toward Churchill Downs where 10 finely tuned 3-year-old horses awaited the call to boots and saddles.

Nine of the 10 were as ready as man could make them for the 1 1/4-mile race over the Downs starting at 5:30 p. m. (EDT) tomorrow before some 100,000 fans and a national television audience.

But the tenth, Calumet Farm's hard-running Gen. Duke, was the talk of the natives as well as the out-of-towners who jammed the hotels and overflowed into suburban areas.

Gen. Duke Doubtful Will Gen. Duke start against the greatest field ever to contest this race? It was a question that not even trainer Jimmy Jones could answer today.

"We may not know until an hour before post time," said Jones of his star who was sidelined with a bruised left front foot Tuesday after finishing second to Clifford Lusky's Federal Hill in the Derby Trial.

"I would say that he has something less than a 50-50 chance of starting," Jones added.

Absence of the General from the classic, which will be televised and broadcast from 4:15 to 4:45 p. m. (EST) by CBS, would tend to take the edge off the intense rivalry with Wheatley Stable's long-striding Bold Ruler.

2 Previous Meetings The two horses met four times in Florida and each won twice.

With Gen. Duke a doubtful starter, Bold Ruler has been made the 8-5 choice to win the second richest Derby. Based on 10 starters, the race will have a gross value of $153,300 with a net of $109,200 going to the winner. Only last year's renewal, won by Needles, was richer.

Even should the Calumet ace reach the starting gate it is doubtful if he and his stablemate, Iron Liege, will supplant Bold Ruler in the affections of the fans at the betting windows.

The Ruler, who'll be ridden by America's premier stake winner, Eddie Arcaro, has gained support with every move since arriving on the scene nearly two weeks ago.

Arcaro will be after his sixth Derby winner. And the Ruler's beloved 82-year-old trainer, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, will be after his fourth winner. His great Nashua bowed to Swaps two years ago.

Jays' Gaskin Tosses 1-Hitter At Springfield

(By The Associated Press)

Schenectady southpaw Joe Gaskin was one of those close-but-not-quite pitchers today.

He came within a shortstop's glove of pitching a no-hit, no-run Eastern League game at Springfield last night. But regardless of Joe's disappointment, the Blue Jays went on to trounce Springfield 4-0 and sweep a four-game series in the Massachusetts city.

In other games, a ninth-inning explosion broke up a scoreless ball game in Albany, which Syracuse won 4-3. Reading squared a hometown four-game series by defeating Binghamton 7-3.

Pagan Gets Hit

Gaskin's tragedy came in the third inning when Jose Pagan hit a ground ball that just eluded the outstretched glove hand of shortstop Ed Wayula. The 6-4, 205-pound hurler struck out eight and walked eight.

For eight innings at Albany, righthanders Bob Adubato for the hometown Senators and Ralph Birkhofer for the Syracuse Chiefs, were locked in a scoreless pitching duel. Both wilted in the ninth.

Adubato gave up three runs before being replaced. Birkhofer was hit for the same before heading for the bench. But Birkhofer's sacrifice fly knocked in the winning run.

It was Reading's big fourth inning that broke the Triplets. The Indians scored six runs in the fourth on four bases on balls and the same number of hits. Lefty Jim Pete was credited with the victory.

Cornell Oarsmen Favored Over Syracuse, Navy

Syracuse, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—

Cornell's highly regarded crew is favored to defeat Syracuse and Navy tomorrow in the third annual Goes Cup Regatta on Onondaga Lake.

The Big Red oarsmen, coached by R. Harrison (Stork) Sanford, won the cup last year on Cayuga Lake and have dominated the Intercollegiate Racing Assn. (IRA) varsity event for the last two years.

Cornell's contingent also won the IRA freshman race in 1955 under the direction of Loren Schoel, present Syracuse varsity coach. Navy is coached by Russell S. (Rusty) Callow.

The cup race, over a two-mile course, will be the first start of the campaign for the Ithacans.

Sophomore Crew

Navy's sophomore-studded scull eged Princeton two weeks ago in the Middle's lone race while Harvard nipped Syracuse in a close affair last Saturday on the Charles River at Boston. The Syracuse boat carries many of last year's IRA frosh champions.

Navy's freshman sweepers placed second in last year's rowing classic.

Clifford (Tip) Goes, founder of the Navy-Cornell-Syracuse regatta, will act as referee of the event. Goes is chairman of the U. S. Olympic Rowing Committee.

The varsity event is scheduled to start at 4:30 p. m. (EDT) following three preliminary races.

In two previous Goes regattas, the host team has been the victor. Schoel has been making this point known to his crew all week, he said.

Union Grid Pilot To Resign Post

Schenectady, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—

Sam Hammerstrom is quitting as head football coach at Union College to go to Arizona for reasons of family health.

The college announced yesterday that Hammerstrom, whose 1956 team had the best record of his seven seasons at the helm, will leave after the 1957 campaign. He plans to join an insurance firm in Phoenix.

Union has made no plan for a successor, president Carter Davidson said.

Born in Jamestown, Hammerstrom was elected to the Associated Press Little All-America team in 1939, when he was captain of an undefeated Union eleven. He was the east's high scorer with 86 points.

Since 1950, his Union teams have won 25 games, lost 29 and tied one. Last year, the record was 6-2.

Clinton Keglers Set New Record

Clinton Avenue Methodist Church keglers waited until the last night of the season to set a new team series record of 2119. They did it with games of 734, 693 and 692.

Jim Ramond contributed 518 to the series; Chet Weeks 528; Art Christ 546, Harold Pine 527. Percy Slover was high scorer for the night with 135-241-182 for 558. Austin Hitchcock fired 200-516, Doug Kennedy 530 and L. Brown 510.

Team results: Trinity Lutheran No. 1 (0), Clinton Avenue 3; Fair Street 2, Bemie AC 1; St. James No. 1 (1), Comforter No. 1 (2).

Cheese Discovery

Discovery of cheese is believed to have occurred more than 2,000 years B.C., when someone carried milk in a canteen made from a sheep's stomach. The milk separated into semi-solid curds and liquid whey.

NFA Takes MHS, 9-2

Middletown High outhit Newburgh Free Academy 8-6 but the Goldbacks came out on top 9-2 in opening day play in the DUSO League yesterday at the Mid-City.

Slow-balling Rodney Coleman hurled Coach George Balcanoff's outfit to victory with a route-going job.

The Middies used three twirlers, Dick Lundgren, Tom Clarke and Tom Slover, with Lundgren the loser.

Saugerties Game Club Announces Trout Stocking

Saugerties Fish and Game Club announced that 1,200 brook, brown and rainbow trout will be stocked in Saugerties area streams Sunday.

The trout were purchased by the club with the cooperation of High Woods Sportsmen's Association. The trout will arrive from Paradise Brook Trout Hatchery, Paradise, Pa., at Saugerties municipal building at 12 noon Sunday.

Arthur Speri, club fish chairman has issued a call to all members and interested sportsmen to report for the stocking project.

Prior to the trout season the Saugerties club stocked over 5,000 legal size brown and brook trout allocated from the State Conservation Department in the Plattekill from Mt. Marion to West Saugerties mountain.

Select DeBruce Boy

During the meeting this week Harold E. Van Voorhis, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Van Voorhis of William street, Saugerties was selected to attend DeBruce Conservation Camp on the Willowemoc near Livingston Manor for a week.

All expenses paid by the club. John Stoly, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stoly of Saugerties was named alternate. He will attend August 4 to 10.

A resolution was passed seeking the cooperation of the Saugerties Town Board to enact an ordinance which would require a permit to burn brush. The measure was suggested to prevent the destruction of game cover, to conserve trees and prevent possible forest fires.

President Walter B. Pettinger appointed a committee of three to prepare a float for the July 4 parade. The committee includes Frank C. Sloboda, Carlton B. King and Donald Delmater.

A sound color film, "Tackle Busters" was shown by Vincent Beral on equipment furnished by Saugerties Sales and Service.

The state of Maine was named for the province of Maine in France.

Wall, Littler Tied With 68's

Fort Worth, Tex., May 3 (AP)—

Twenty-one players were within four strokes of each other today as Gene Littler and Art Wall, a couple of hot-streak putters, led the widest open $25,000 Colonial National Invitation with 2-under-par 68's.

In the closest first round in the 11-year history of the tournament, Wall, the elongated man from Pocono Manor, Pa., and Littler, the Californian on the comeback trail, topped the 48-man field by a stroke.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, were tied at 69 and six players, including Ben Hogan, Fort Worth's golf great favored to win this tournament—which he already has bagged four times—were grouped at 70.

The sub-par rounds equalled the highest number ever shot in the opening 18-holes and the golfers attributed emergency rules given them by officials because of the condition of the 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course—it had rained for 14 straight days—as making possible the low scores.

The players are allowed to improve the lie and lift balls embedded in the rough. Littler also said the wet greens that held the ball also helped.

W. Europe Cool To Report of McCarthy's Death

London, May 3 (P)—Western Europe's newspapers shed no tear today for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. The death of the Wisconsin Senator renewed the dormant passions that once surged around his name.

British papers nearly all gave the story prominent front-page space and carried bitter editorials on "McCarthyism."

The reports in France were brief. But all papers referred to McCarthy as "the witch hunter." The Communist L'Humanite declared the Senator "was famous for his relentless in using methods against communism worthy of the inquisition."

"Inquisition" also was used in London's conservative Daily Telegraph.

The pro-Communist Paris Liberation called the Senator "the leader of frantic anti-communism and the grand master of witch hunting."

The death occurred too late yesterday for Italian editorial writers to prepare articles, but

Thugs Get $19,253

Atlanta, May 3 (P)—Two men wearing stockings over their heads robbed the 10th street branch of the Citizens and Southern National Bank of $19,253 shortly before the bank opened today. The bandits held up two employees as they were transferring money from the bank to a drive-in window at the rear of the building. Mrs. Betty Cawley, assistant teller who was in one of the drive-in windows, said the two wore stockings over their heads but that their faces were uncovered.
